

State Inspector Was Here.
State Plumbing Inspector King of Madison spent last Wednesday in this city and in the evening addressed the local plumbers at the west side city hall. Mr. King's address was along the line of giving the plumbers advice regarding their work so as to make it more sanitary, and the plumbers say that his address was a good one. One piece of advice that Mr. King gave was that local saloon keepers have running water in their washing tanks, so that glasses will not be washed and re-washed in the same water.

Churches Consolidate.
For some years past the Methodists and Moravians have been holding services at Rudolph, both congregations using the Methodist edifice at that place. As neither congregation had a very large membership it was recently decided to consolidate the two and this was done recently. It is probable that the Moravians will buy the property from the Methodists in the near future.

Mrs. Chas. Dixon and children departed today for a weeks visit with relatives in Neenah.

Annual Mission Festival.
St. Paul's Lutheran congregation (west side) will hold its annual mission festival next Sunday. Three services will be held, at 9:45 a. m., 2:30 p. m., and 7:30 p. m., the latter in the English language. The speakers will be: In the forenoon Rev. M. Hillemann of Medford, Wis.; in the afternoon Rev. Aug. Ristow, of Auburn, Minn.; and in the evening Rev. H. Schmeling of Sparta.

Notice To Tax Payers.
Notice is hereby given to the tax payers of the city of Grand Rapids that the assessment roll for said city of Grand Rapids has been completed and that the same has been delivered to the city clerk of said city that said assessment roll is now in his possession and that said assessment roll will be open for examination by the taxable inhabitants of said city at the office of the city clerk thereof on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1914, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated at the city of Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin, this 10th day of August, A. D. 1914.
Burton L. Brown,
City Clerk.

FATHER REDING WELCOMED

Citizens Assemble to Welcome Reverend Gentleman Back Home.
Something like eight hundred people assembled at the home of the Rev. Wm. Reding last Wednesday evening in order to give that gentleman a proper welcome home from his European trip, and it was evident that he appreciated the spirit in which the meeting was held.

The affair was a most happy one and everybody seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion. Among the visiting priests present were A. Van Sever of Rudolph, W. J. Rice, Henry Ehr and Rev. July of Stevens Point, W. B. Bolachek of Junction City, John Willitzer of Pittsville, J. J. Brennan of Wausau, J. J. Rotbeick of Sigel, Joseph Feldman of Neokosa and F. C. Cisewski of the west side church in this city.

Dynamite Caps Explode.

Three children of Frank Goldback, of Bakesville, were injured by the explosion of dynamite caps last week. The caps had been used by the father in blowing out stumps on his land and had been hidden in a brush pile in the pasture for the express purpose of keeping them out of the hands of the children. Like all things they should not have, they found, and proceeded to explode them by crushing them between stones.

As a result one of the children, a boy, is in the hospital at Marshfield with a finger gone and other injuries of a serious nature. A little girl is burned and an older brother escaped with a few scratches.

WILL YOU BE WINNER OF FORD

Only a Few Hours More--Several Contestants Stand on an Equal Footing. Reports of the Last Day will now be the Deciding Factor--Long Term Subscriptions Still of Vital Importance--Rally Friends to Your Support.

WIN BY WORK--WORK ALWAYS WINS

Are You Wasting Any Time? If You Are, You Are Wasting Your Chances, and the Dollars Are Sliding Out of Your Reach.

In about seventy-two hours now and you will either have won or lost the Ford car that was so easily yours had you properly placed your energy and worked hard to win. For six or seven weeks you have been trying possibly not your very best but right on the eve of the final count you are probably wasting more time than you should. You should make your final report the heaviest of them all. You see there are four or five of you that are practically tied and on even footing and it will be the person that keeps up their courage and works hard up to the very last that will be the winner. Five and ten year subscriptions should be what you work for and work hard but even at that grab every subscription that you can regardless of amount and although you may feel that you have exhausted your powers stir up all the life that you have left take a new breath and go after it harder than ever and add all the renewed energy that you can for this is your last chance and you will hate it like sin if you find out after the race that you might have won had you worked just a little harder. Don't miss a moment for they are worth dollars to you. You could get more long term subscriptions if you thought that you would win by so doing. You never can tell whether or not but what they will win for you so go after them and you will find later on in the race that you will win for you. I feel sure that you can get more of them so don't delay but go after them and make things hum now these last few hours for the car lays in a balance and you might as well come to the front as a winner and the few subscriptions that you get might grow into many by repeated trials and in this way your end of the balance may designate that you are the winner of the car. If you could win by getting a few more subscriptions you would get it and I would advise you to get them for this race is awfully close. There is not a contestant that has such a lead that they could really think that they had the car cinched for the simple reason that a few long term subscriptions will overbalance any vote that has heretofore been cast. It is now a matter of who makes the largest final report. Will you be the winner? That is the important question and if you work hard every moment up till the final call of the gong on August 15th at 5 p. m. you will be able to indicate the answer to the question who will win the Ford.

When the judges take the ballot box to the bank for the final count then and then only will you be too late to do any thing more. Regrets after 5 p. m. Saturday will do you no good, they will avail you nothing and it is only the acts of the most energetic sort between now and then that will help you. After the count of the judges it will do no good to repeat the fact that you could of gotten subscriptions from certain people. It is the getting of every possible subscription now that will aid you and make you successful.

Rally your friends to your support and tell them that you need their assistance and every bit of it that they can give you and that their regrets afterwards will do no good and that they can help you like sixty now. It is a case of now or never. From past experience I know that the winner will probably have several thousand votes more than the competitors and still you can never tell for the winner will be the one that works the hardest right up till the last and he will be the one that makes his last report larger than any that has been made. Get every subscription that you can for every one means that you are that much nearer to the goal line the winner of the FORD. The goal that you are striving for is so close yet it is so far and can only be reached by work. If you knew what I know from conducting many contests you would never stop but work right up till the last and never be satisfied with the speed you are going but go after it with greater speed each person that you meet and ask for a subscription. Put in every minute in your final sprint.

LOST COURAGE MEANS SURE DEFEAT--GRIM DETERMINATION MEANS SUCCESS.
Closing Particulars.
Read this carefully and be sure that you understand it. The contest closes on Saturday, Aug. 15th, at 5 p. m. All reports must be in the ballot box by that time. Mail reports must REACH Grand Rapids early on the closing day, so there will be no chance of them being late. IT WILL BE BEST THAT YOU MAKE YOUR REPORT IN PERSON.

The contest manager will make his last count on Wednesday, Aug. 12th in the morning and the ballot box will be where you place your reports from that on. Remember that all credits that are not counted will be placed in the ballot box where the judges will count them on the last day.

The ballot box will be sealed and locked on Wednesday morning and from that time on members may have the privilege of placing their reports directly in the ballot box together with the money to correspond, instead of turning them over to the Contest Manager, as has been done formerly. However, if members wish to make their reports to the Manager they can do so as usual and place their credit certificate in the ballot box. If you place your report in the ballot box, you must put it in a sealed envelope WITH THE MONEY before dropping in the box. Be sure that your totals are correct and that you have the right amount of money to cover the report. Doing it that way it will be absolutely secret and no one will know how much you have reported but yourself.

The money to cover the reports which are placed in the ballot box on the last two days must be at least three-fourths actual cash, money orders drafts or certified checks.

At exactly 5 p. m. on the last day the judges will open the ballot box in the Bank of Grand Rapids and count the credits. They will count only the credits which are in the ballot box and will add the totals in it to the totals in the paper. We invite each member though to call in before the last day and check up with the Manager in order to see that there are no mistakes.

Owing to the call for quick and accurate work on the part of the judges only the three judges, the Editor, the Contest Manager and the contestants will be present at counting.

The count will be made immediately after 5 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, August 15th. Remember all reports must be in the ballot box by that time or they will not be counted. Just as soon as the credits are counted and checked, the judges' decision will be announced at the Bank. In order to take up as little time as possible with the counting of the credits, the judges will count them only once, checking as they go, but if any contestant is dissatisfied they have the privilege of recounting their own credits. Everything possible will be done to eliminate mistakes.

The Judges.

The judges who are to make the final count of credits and award the prizes to the winners will be: E. B. Redford, Bank of Grand Rapids; Wm. G. Schroedel, Bank of Grand Rapids; Michael Cepress, Bank of Grand Rapids.

These men are well known throughout Wood county as being men of integrity and honesty and each member may be assured of an absolutely fair and square deal.

We will be glad to consider any suggestions by members in regard to the above rules of the close or in regard to the judges. This is a race of the members and we want each one to feel perfectly confident that they are being treated right. We want to do everything within reason to make it fair and square and we want every member to do their part too. If each contestant will make it a rule to do nothing unfair that they would consider unfair in others doing, there will be no hurt or hard feelings.

If there is anything in the above explanation that is not exactly clear to you, be sure you ask about it at your first opportunity so that we can explain it.

Don't forget that it is better to win by a vast majority than to lose by a few credits. So don't fail to turn in everything possible. Don't let yourself be an "also ran" after this race is over but keep up the hottest pace you are capable of. You simply can't get too many credits. Below is the standings as they now appear:

Drum-Brooks.

Miss Laurie Drum of this city and Mr. Sidney E. Brooks of Neokosa were married at the home of the bride's parents in this city on Tuesday, August 11th, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. H. B. Johnson. Only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present. They were accompanied by Miss Mildred Brooks, sister of the groom and Mr. Frank Drum, the brother of the bride.

The young couple left the same day on a trip down river on their wedding tour and upon their return will make their home at Neokosa, where the groom is engaged in business, and where they will be at home to their friends after the first of October.

A New Tire Protector.

Frank J. Natwick of this city has taken the agency for the Buick tire protector, a contrivance manufactured at Stevens Point which is intended to lengthen the life of an ordinary rubber tire. The manufacturer guarantees the protector to run 5,000 miles, and a set of pneumatics will run for 2,000 when covered by the protector. It is claimed that punctures are lessened fully 90 per cent by the use of the protectors, and they certainly look to be a good thing.

Arrested For Forgery.

Jack Hollins was arrested on Friday on a charge of forgery, and upon being taken before Justice Pomalville asked for an adjournment until August 17th, which was granted. Hollins is the same man who tried to elope with a local young lady, but was prevented from doing so by the girl's parents.

Nissen-Smith.

Miss Ora Nissen of this city and Charles J. Smith of Chicago were married in Chicago on Thursday of last week at the home of the bride's uncle, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Sallows.

The bride is well and favorably known in this city, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nissen, and has many friends here who will wish her a happy journey thru life.

Cranberry Growers Meet.

The summer meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers' association was held at Mather yesterday. A special train was run to Mather from this city which was taken advantage of by a large number of our citizens who are interested in this industry. The meeting was reported to be a most successful one.

Bitten By Dogs.

Mail Carrier Otto Mickelson was bitten by a dog belonging to August Kraske on Wednesday while delivering some mail at the owners house. The laceration was not very deep, but Otto does not care to have the performance repeated, nevertheless.

Willis Noyes was also bitten on Wednesday by the large St. Bernard dog owned by Mrs. McGuire, the wounds being on his right arm between the wrist and elbow.

BIRTHS.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reddin at Pine View farm in the town of Rudolph.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. John Schuetz, west side.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Klasinger of the town of Sigel, Aug. 23.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Jockwick, South Side.

Closed a Big Contract.

On Tuesday W. H. Carey, manager of the Carey Concrete Co. closed the contract for 75,000 of his company's blocks to be used in the construction of the new ward school in this city. This is the largest contract the company has ever taken.

Otto Perling, who is employed in a paper mill in Espanola, Canada, is home for a visit with his parents.

"HAPPY" FELCH IS SOLD FOR BIG MONEY

Few people in Grand Rapids imagined two years ago that Happy Felch would be one of the big ones in the major leagues within a couple of years. Happy played shortstop with the Grand Rapids team a part of the season of 1912, later going to Stevens Point, where he played the year following.

Everybody knew that Happy was some hitter and that he was liable to rap out a home run at any time, but almost everybody supposed that if he was in fact company, up against one of the great pitchers of the country, that they would make him look like a sure enough false alarm.

However, it seems that Happy has been there with the goods right along, and today he is a big one among the big ones.

During the present season Happy has been playing with the Milwaukee team in the American association, and for some time past several of the big teams of the country have been bidding for him, and the result is that on Saturday he was sold to the Chicago White Sox for $12,000 cash and two other players, the value of whom is placed at $7,000. This is $1,000 more than the Sox paid Milwaukee last year for Chapelle.

Felch started his upward career in this city. At that time he was playing shortstop with the locals and we were scheduled to play a game with Stevens Point on the 24th of July, 1912. Cy Young was pitching for Stevens Point at that time, and Cy was some pitcher. He had a sporeless innings to his credit and had made up his mind that he could keep up the pace indefinitely, and maybe some of us agreed with him. When Felch stepped up to bat in the first inning there were two men on bases, but before the crowd realized what was going to happen Happy had rapped out a home run and Cy's famous spit stopped right there. Stevens Point beat the Rapids 5 to 4, but the next time the two teams met we won by a score of 4 to 1. Felch knocking out another homer with two men on bases, and made a three bagger later in the game.

Felch went to Stevens Point later in the season was in the state league in 1913, but Milwaukee grabbed him up that year. He kept his batting eye right with him all the time, and altho a trifle spasmodic in his work, has proven a valuable man, and had helped them out on many an occasion with one of his long hits. His specialty has always been home runs, and the fences do not seem to be far enough back to keep him within bounds.

Felch will report to Chicago in 1915, and has signed up for two years.

Swimming Pool Fund Short.

M. N. Weeks has been making the rounds of the business men during the past few days getting subscriptions for the swimming pool fund. It is needless to state that the citizens have responded manfully to the demand, and the indications are that the deficit will be made up. The report is that the contributors have already spent more than $5,000 in the work there, and at the time of starting out with the subscription paper there was a shortage of more than $2,500. There is no question but what the swimming pool is a good thing, and it has certainly been the most popular place in Grand Rapids during the past summer.

Death of Frank Bengert.

Frank Bengert, a resident of Bron, died on Tuesday of last week after an illness of some length at the age of 47 years, 7 months and 20 days. Deceased was a native of Germany, where he was born on the 15th of December, 1866, and is survived by a wife and eight children.

The funeral was held on Thursday from St. Peter & Paul church in this city, of which deceased was a member.

Call For Bids.

Sealed Bids will be received by Robert Morris, clerk of Arpin school district No. 1, until six o'clock p. m. August 20, 1914 for the labor and material on a two room brick and tile school building. A certified check of 1 per cent of each bid to accompany bid. Right reserved to reject any and all bids. For further information and plans and specifications address, Robert Morris, Clerk, and Chairman of Building Committee.

Will Work in Ohio.

According to the Stevens Point Journal Wm. Ule has taken several big contracts in Ohio that will keep him busy for a year or more. The work consists in the construction of some concrete reservoirs. Mr. Ule will take his family to Ohio to remain until the work is completed, when he will move back to Stevens Point.

Advertised Mail.

List of advertised mail at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, August 10, 1914. Ladies--Mrs. Beck, Mrs. Archie Hutzler, Mrs. Katie Reep, Mrs. Della Weidman, (3).

Gentlemen--Mr. E. V. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Hooper, Mr. P. K. McGarry, Mr. John Maeker.

Playing to Good Houses.

Frank Winninger and his company opened at Daly's Theater on Monday evening to one of the best houses ever seen in that play house. Mr. Winninger has a good company with him and is entitled to the best of patronage. They will be here four nights, completing their engagement on Thursday evening.

Was Some Mind Reader.

Madame Ellis at the Ideal this week has been doing some mind reading stunts that are equal to anything that has ever been seen here. The work is certainly of a high class and has both mystified and amused large audiences each night.

CONTRACT LET FOR SCHOOL

Expected to be Ready for Occupancy by First of Year.

At a meeting of the building committee of the school board held last evening the contract for the building of the new ward school on the west side was let to the Weinberg Construction company, the contract price being $17,490. This is without the heating, plumbing and wiring, which will be extra, and will raise the cost above this amount considerably.

Architect Leidert of Wausau was in the city Monday and Tuesday and met with the building committee, and some changes to bring the price of the building within the resources of the committee. The school will be of concrete block and brick construction, and will be one of the most up-to-date ward buildings in the state when completed. It will contain four rooms, and the contract calls for the completion of the building on the 15th of January, so that school may be opened there on the 22d of January.

The building will prove of incalculable value to the people who reside west of the railroad tracks and whose children have heretofore had to cross three railway systems in order to get to school.

Death of Wm. Shelvan.

The death of William Shelvan, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thor. Shelvan of this city, occurred at Riverview Hospital shortly before seven o'clock, Thursday evening, August 6, 1914. Death was caused by appendicitis. An operation was performed upon him the preceding Sunday but he was found to be beyond the help of medical aid. Deceased was born in La Crosse, January 31, 1900. While he was yet a babe in arms the family came to this city. Besides his parents, three sisters and five brothers remain to mourn his early departure. The funeral was held from the Scandinavian Moravian church, Saturday at 2 p. m., the Rev. H. B. Johnson officiating. Interment was made at Forest Hill cemetery.

Demonstrated New Device.

A demonstration of the Biejer hydraulic transmission was given at the Jensen garage in this city on Thursday afternoon. This is a part of an automobile that is supposed to take the place of several of the parts now used in a machine, and is the invention of a Stevens Point man. Numerous attempts have been made to construct a contrivance that will take the place of the present rather crude contrivance now known as the sliding gear transmission, and this is the object of this piece of mechanism. Those who saw the thing demonstrated seemed to think favorably of it.

Large Community Picnic.

At Underhill Bluff's place near Arpin and Vesper, in the near future will be held a large church picnic. This is being held under the auspices of the Vesper, Arpin, and Sherry churches in charge of Rev. James Deans. Prizes to the value of many dollars will be given to the winning contestants. The program will be varied, comprised of races, jumping, tug-of-war, ball games, nail-hammering, etc. Eminent speakers will give addresses. The many details will be given later.

Placed on Probation.

John Adrain, the young fellow who was charged with having stolen two bicycles, was up before Judge Conway one day last week and after hearing the circumstances in the case the young fellow was placed on probation for two months. If the young fellow conducts himself in a proper manner hereafter he will escape punishment, but if he does not, it will mean that he will have to go to the reform school.

Fined for Assault.

Upon entering a plea of nolo contendere Charles Pribbanow paid a fine in Justice Roberts court on Wednesday of last week. The charge upon him was assault upon John Amundson, the son of Louis Amundson.

Boat Club.

All persons owning a boat and interested are requested to meet at 7:30 Thursday evening, at West Side City Hall to organize a boat and fishing club.

T. A. Taylor.

Miss Marie Looze returned on Sunday from a two week's visit in Green Bay and Seymour.

DRUMB & SUTOR, Publishers.

State Inspector Was Here.
State Plumbing Inspector King of Madison spent last Wednesday in this city and in the evening addressed the local plumbers at the west side city hall. Mr. King's address was along the line of giving the plumbers advice regarding their work so as to make it more sanitary, and the plumbers say that his address was a good one. One piece of advice that Mr. King gave was that local saloon keepers have running water in their washing tanks, so that glasses will not be washed and re-washed in the same water.

Churches Consolidate.
For some years past the Methodist and Baptist churches have been holding services at Rudolph, both congregations using the Methodist edifice at that place. As neither congregation had a very large membership it was recently decided to consolidate the two and this was done recently. It is probable that the Moravians will buy the property from the Methodists in the near future.

Mrs. Clara Dixon and children departed today for a week's visit with relatives in Neenah.

Annual Mission Festival.
St. Paul's Lutheran congregation (west side) will hold its annual mission festival next Sunday. Three services will be held, at 9:45 a. m., 2:30 p. m., and 7:30 p. m., the latter in the English language. The speakers will be: In the forenoon Rev. M. Hillman of Medford, Wis., in the afternoon Rev. Aug. Ristow of Auburn, and in the evening Rev. H. Schmeling of Sparta.

Notice To Tax Payers.
Notice is hereby given to the tax payers of the city of Grand Rapids that the assessment roll for said city of Grand Rapids has been completed and that the same has been delivered to the city clerk of said city that said assessment roll is now in his possession and that said assessment roll will be open for examination by the taxable inhabitants of said city at the office of the city clerk thereof on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1914, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated at the city of Grand Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin, this 10th day of August, A. D. 1914.

FATHER REDDING WELCOMED

Citizens Assemble to Welcome Reverend and Gentleman Back Home.

Something like eight hundred people assembled at the home of the Rev. Wm. Redding last Wednesday evening in order to give that gentleman a proper welcome home from his European trip, and it was evident that he appreciated the spirit in which the meeting was held.

Mr. Redding was met at the St. Paul train and immediately conveyed to his home on the east side, where the people had assembled, and a banquet was served to the visiting clergy and the reception committee. At the conclusion of the banquet they went out onto the lawn where seats had been arranged for the occasion and a public reception was held. There were several short addresses of welcome, and Mr. Redding was presented with an Overland touring car, the presentation speech being made by Father Reigelsperger, who has had charge of the congregation here during Father Redding's absence.

The affair was a most happy one and everybody seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion. Among the visiting priests present were A. Van Sever of Rudolph, W. J. Rice, Henry Ehr and Rev. July of Stevens Point, W. B. Bolachek of Junction City, John Willitzer of Pittsville, J. J. Brennan of Wausau, J. J. Roelbeck of Sigel, Joseph Feldman of Nekosia and F. C. Olszewski of the west side church in this city.

WIN BY WORK--WORK ALWAYS WINS

Are You Wasting Any Time? If You Are, You Are Wasting Your Chances, and the Dollars Are Sliding Out of Your Reach.

In about seventy-two hours now and you will either have won or lost the Ford car that was so easily yours.

There is not a contestant that has such a lead that they could really think that they had the car clinched for the simple reason that a few long term subscriptions will overbalance any vote that has heretofore been cast. It is now a matter of who makes the largest final report. Will you be the winner? That is the important question and any that has hard every moment and any that has repeated the fact that you could of gotten subscriptions from certain people. It is the getting of every possible subscription now that will aid you and make you successful.

Rally your friends to your support and tell them that you need their assistance and every bit of it that they can give you and that their suggestions will do no good and that they can help you or never. From past experience I know that the winners will probably have several thousand votes more than the competitors and still you can never tell for the winner will be the one that works the hardest right up till the last and he will be the one that makes his last report larger than any that has been made. Get every subscription that you can and every one means that you are a few minutes nearer to the goal line the winner of the FORD. The goal that you are striving for is so close yet it is so far and can only be reached by work. If you knew what I know from conducting many contests you would never stop but work right up till the last and never be satisfied with the speed you are going but go after it with greater speed each person that you meet and ask for a subscription. Put in every minute in your final sprint.

LOST COURAGE MEANS SURE DEFEAT--GRIM DETERMINATION MEANS SUCCESS.
Closing Particulars.
Read this carefully and be sure that you understand it. The contest closes on Saturday, August 15th, at 5 p. m. All reports must be in the ballot box by the Grand Rapids office on the closing day, so there will be no chance of them being late. IT WILL BE BEST THAT YOU MAKE YOUR REPORT IN PERSON.

The contest manager will make his last count on Wednesday, August 12th in the morning and the ballot box will be where you place your reports from that on. Remember reports from that on are not counted that all credits that are not counted will be placed in the ballot box where the judges will count them on the last day.

The ballot box will be sealed and locked on Wednesday morning and from that time on members may have the privilege of placing their reports directly in the ballot box together with the money to correspond, instead of turning them in to the Contest Manager, as has been done formerly. However, if members wish to make their reports to the Manager they can do so as usual and place their credit certificate in the ballot box. If you place your report in the ballot box, you must put it in a sealed envelope WITH THE MONEY before dropping in the box. Be sure that your totals are correct and that you have the right amount of money to cover the reports. Doing it that way it will be absolutely secret and no one will know how much you have reported but yourself.

The money to cover the reports which are placed in the ballot box on the last two days must be at least three-fourths actual cash, money orders drafts or certified checks.

At exactly 5 p. m. on the last day the judges will open the ballot box in the Bank of Grand Rapids and count the credits. They will place in the ballot box which are in the lot box and will seal the totals in it and the totals in the paper. We invite each member though to call in before the last day and check up with the Manager in order to see that there are no mistakes.

Owing to the call for quick and accurate work on the part of the judges only the three judges, the Editor, the Contest Manager and the contestants will be present at counting.

The count will be made immediately after 5 o'clock p. m., on Saturday, August 15th. Remember all reports that are in the ballot box by that time or they will not be counted. Just as soon as the credits are counted and checked, the judges' decision will be announced at the Bank. In order to take up as little time as possible with the counting of the credits, the judges will count them only once, checking as they go, but if any contestant is dissatisfied they have the right to appeal.

credits. Everything possible will be done to eliminate mistakes.

The Judges.
The judges who are to make the final count of credits and award the prizes to the winners will be: E. B. Redford, Bank of Grand Rapids; Wm. G. Schroedel, Bank of Grand Rapids; Michael Cepress, Bank of Grand Rapids.

These men are well known throughout Wood County as being men of integrity and honesty and each member may be assured of an absolutely fair and square deal.

We will be glad to consider any suggestions by members in regard to the above rules of the close or in regard to the judges. This is a race of the members and we want each one to feel perfectly confident that they are being treated right. We want to do everything within reason to make it fair and square and want every member to do their part too. If each contestant will make it a rule to do nothing unfair that they would consider unfair in others doing, there will be no hurt or hard feelings.

If there is anything in the above explanation that is not exactly clear to you, be sure you ask about it at your first opportunity so that we can explain it.

Don't forget that it is better to win by a vast majority than to lose by a few credits. So don't fail to turn in everything possible. Don't let yourself be an "also ran" after this race is over but keep on your hottest pace you are capable of. You simply can't get too many credits. Below is the standings as they now appear:

Drum-Brooks.

Miss Laurie Drum of this city and Mr. Sidney E. Brooks of Nekosia were the parents in this city on Tuesday, August 11th, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. H. B. Johnson. Only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present. They were accompanied by Miss Mildred Brooks, sister of the groom and Mr. Frank Drum, brother of the bride. The young couple left the same day on a wedding tour and upon their return will make their home at Nekosia, where the groom is engaged in business, and where they will be at home to their friends after the first of October.

A New Tire Protector.
Frank J. Natwick of this city has taken the agency for the Bukolt tire protector, a contrivance manufactured at Stevens Point which is intended to lengthen the life of an ordinary rubber tire. The manufacturer guarantees the protector to run 5,000 miles, and a set of punctures will run for 2,000 when covered by the protector. It is claimed that punctures are lessened fully 90 per cent by the use of the protectors, and they certainly look to be a good thing.

Arrested For Forgery.
Jack Hollins was arrested on Friday on a charge of forgery, and upon being taken before Justice Pomaine was asked for an adjournment until August 17th, which was granted. Hollins is the same man who tried to elope with a local young lady, but was prevented from doing so by the girl's parents.

Nissen-Smith.
Miss Ora Nissen of this city and Charles J. Smith of Chicago were married in Chicago on Thursday last week at the home of the bride's uncle, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Sallows.

The bride is well and favorably known in this city, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nissen, and has many friends here who will wish her a happy journey thru life.

Cranberry Growers Meet.
The summer meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers' association was held at Mather yesterday. A special train was run to Mather from this city which was taken advantage of by a large number of our citizens who are interested in this industry. The meeting was reported to be a most successful one.

Bitten By Dogs.
Mail Carrier Otto Mickelson was bitten by a dog belonging to August Krasko on Wednesday while delivering some mail at the owners house. The laceration was not very deep, but Otto does not care to have the performance repeated, nevertheless.

Willis Noyes was also bitten on Wednesday by the large St. Bernard dog owned by Mrs. McGuire, the wounds being on his right arm between the wrist and elbow.

Closed a Big Contract.
On Tuesday W. H. Carey, manager of the Carey Concrete Co. closed the contract for 75,000 cu. yd. of concrete to be used in the construction of the new ward in this city. This is the largest contract the company has ever taken.

Otto Perling, who is employed in a paper mill in Espanola, Canada, is home for a visit with his parents.

"HAPPY" FELCH IS SOLD FOR BIG MONEY

Few people in Grand Rapids imagine that Happy Felch would be one of the big ones in the major leagues within a couple of years. Happy played shortstop with the Grand Rapids team a part of the season of 1912, later going to Stevens Point, where he played the year following.

Everybody knew that Happy was some hitter and that he was liable to rap out a home run at any time, but almost everybody supposed that if he was in fast company, up against one of the great pitchers of the country, that they would make him look like a sure enough false alarm.

However, it seems that Happy has been there with the goods right along, and today he is a big one among the big ones.

During the present season Happy has been playing with the Milwaukee team in the American association, and for some time past several of the big teams of the country have been bidding for him, and the result is that on Saturday he was sold to the Chicago White Sox for $12,000 cash and two other players, the value of whom is placed at $7,000. This is $1,000 more than the Sox paid Milwaukee last year for Chapelle.

Felch started his upward career in this city. At that time he was playing shortstop with the locals and we were scheduled to play a game with Stevens Point on the 24th of July, 1912. Cy Young was pitching for Stevens Point at that time, and Cy was some pluck to his credit and 94 scoreless innings to his credit and had made up his mind that he could keep up the pace indefinitely, and maybe some of us agreed with him. When Felch stepped up to bat in the first inning there were two men on bases, but before the crowd realized what was going to happen Happy had rapped out a home run and Cy's famous spurt stopped at Stevens Point. Stevens Point beat the Rapids 5 to 4, but the next time the two teams met we won by a score of 4 to 1, Felch knocking out another homer with two men on bases, and made a three bagger later in the game.

Felch went to Stevens Point later in the season as in the state league in 1913, but Milwaukee grabbed him up that year. He kept his batting eye right with him all the time, and altho a trifle spasmodic in his work, has proven a valuable man, and has helped them on many an occasion. Felch is a native of this city, and the fences do not seem to be far enough back to keep him within bounds.

Felch will report to Chicago in 1915, and has signed up for two years.

Swimming Pool Fund Short.

M. N. Weeks has been making the rounds of the business men during the past few days getting subscriptions for the swimming pool fund. It is needless to state that the citizens have responded manfully to the demand, and the indications are that the deficit will be made up. The report is that the projectors have already spent more than $5,000 in the work there, and at the time of starting out with the subscription paper there was a shortage of more than $2,500. There is no question but that the swimming pool is a good thing, and it has certainly been the most popular place in Grand Rapids during the past summer.

Death of Frank Bengert.

Frank Bengert, a resident of Bron, died on Tuesday last week after an illness of some length at the age of 47 years, 7 months and 20 days. Deceased was a native of Germany, where he was born on the 15th of December, 1866, and is survived by a wife and eight children.

The funeral was held on Thursday from St. Peter & Paul church in this city, of which deceased was a member.

Call For Bids.

Sealed bids will be received by Robert Morris, clerk of Arpin school district No. 1, until six o'clock p. m., August 20, 1914 for the labor and material on a two room brick and check of 1 per cent of each bid to accompany a bid. Right reserved to reject any and all bids. For further information and plans and specifications address, Robert Morris, Clerk, and Chairman of Building Committee.

Will Work in Ohio.

According to the Stevens Point Journal Wm. Ule has taken several big contracts in Ohio that will keep him busy for a year or more. The work consists in the construction of some concrete reservoirs.

Ule will take his family to Ohio to remain until the work is completed, when he will move back to Stevens Point.

Advertised Mail.

CONTRACT LET FOR SCHOOL

Expected to be Ready for Occupancy by First of Year.

At a meeting of the building committee of the school board last evening the contract for the building of the new ward school on the west side was let to the Weinberg Construction company, the contract price being $17,490. This is without the heating, plumbing and wiring, which will be extra, and will raise the cost above this amount considerably.

Architect Lelander of Wausau was in the city Monday and Tuesday and met with the building committee, and some changes to bring the price of the building within the resources of the committee. The school will be of concrete block and brick construction, and will be one of the most up-to-date ward buildings in the state when completed. It will contain four rooms, and the contract calls for the completion of the building on the 15th of January, so that school may be opened there on the 23rd of January.

This building will prove of incalculable value to the people who reside west of the railroad tracks and whose children have heretofore had to cross three railway systems in order to get to school.

Death of Wm. Shelvan.

The death of William Shelvan, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thor. Shelvan of this city, occurred at Riverside hospital shortly before 10 o'clock, Thursday evening, August 6, 1914. Death was caused by appendicitis. An operation was performed upon him the preceding Sunday but he was found to be beyond the help of medical aid. Deceased was born in La Crosse, January 31, 1900. While he was yet a babe in arms the family came to this city. Besides his parents, three sisters and five brothers remain to mourn his early departure. The funeral was held from the Scandinavian Moravian church, Saturday at 2 p. m., the Rev. I. B. Johnson officiating. Interment was made at Forest Hill cemetery.

Demonstrated New Device.

A demonstration of the Bleyer hydraulic transmission was given at the Jensen garage in this city on Thursday afternoon. This is a part of an automobile that is supposed to take the place of several of the parts now used in a machine, and is the invention of a Stevens Point man. Numerous attempts have been made to construct a contrivance that will take the place of the present rather crude contrivance now known as the sliding gear transmission, and this is the object of this piece of mechanism. Those who saw the thing demonstrated seemed to think favorably of it.

Large Community Picnic.

At Undersheriff Blue's place near Arpin and Vosper, in the near future will be held a large church picnic. This is being held under the auspices of the Arpin, Arpin, and Sherry churches in charge of Rev. James Doms. Prizes to the value of many dollars will be given to the winning contestants. The program will be varied, comprised of races, jumping, tug-of-war, ball games, and hammering, etc. Payment speakers will give addresses. The many details will be given later.

Placed on Probation.

John Adrain, the young fellow who was charged with having stolen two bicycles, was up before Judge Cady way one day last week and after hearing the circumstances in the case the young fellow was placed on probation for two months. If the young fellow conducts himself in a proper manner hereafter he will escape punishment, but if he does not, it will mean that he will have to go to the reform school.

Fined for Assault.

Upon entering a plea of nolo contendere Charles Pribnow paid a fine in Justice Roberts court on Wednesday of last week. The charge upon him was assault upon John Amundson, the son of Louis Amundson.

Boat Club.

All persons owning a boat and interested are requested to meet at 7:30 Thursday evening, at West Side City Hall to organize a boat and fishing club.

T. A. Taylor.

Mrs. Marie Looze returned on Sunday from a two week's visit in Green Bay and Seymour.

SYNOPSIS.

Bud Hooker and Phil De Lancy are forced, owing to a revolution in Mexico, to give up their mining claim and return to the United States. In the border town of Guadalupe Bud meets Henry Kruger, a wealthy miner, who makes him a proposition to turn Mexico back into a very rich mine which Kruger had blown up when he found he had been cheated out of the title by one Aragon. The Mexican subsequently had spent a large sum of money in an unsuccessful attempt to relocate the vein and then allowed the land to revert for taxes. Hooker and De Lancy were to acquire the title where the Eagle Tail mine is located. They engage Cruz Mendez to acquire the title for them and begin preliminary work. Aragon accuses them of jumping his claim. Hooker discovers that matrimonial entanglements prevent Mendez from acquiring a valid title. Phil, who has been paying attention to Gracia Aragon, decides to turn Mexican and acquire the title. Aragon fails in his attempt to drive them out. Mendez is arrested and deported in the vicinity. A rich vein of gold is struck and work on the mine is stopped until the title can be perfected. Phil is arrested by Manuel del Rey, captain of the rurales and author of Gracia's fate. Phil is forced to enlist in the rurales. He asks Bud to take care of Gracia. The rurales are defeated in a fierce battle near Fortuna.

"What, senor?" he bawled; "you do not speak? Surely, then, your friend De Lancy was wrong when he said you would save me! For look, Mr. Hooker, I am promised to marry dear Phil; but how can I manage that when Manuel del Rey is watching me? It is impossible, is it not?"

"Seems so," muttered Bud, and in the back of his head he began to think quickly. Here was the fountainhead of his misfortunes, and if she had her way she would lay all his plans in ruins—and even then not marry Phil. In fact, from the light she spoke, he sensed that she did not intend to marry him. Her grudge was against Manuel del Rey who drove away all her lovers.

"Well," he ventured, "there's no rush, I reckon—Phil's enlisted for five years."

"Ha!" she cried contemptuously; "and do you think he will serve? Not at a word from me he will flee to the border and I shall join him in the United States!"

"What?" demanded Bud; "Phil desert?"

In a moment he saw what such a move would mean to him—to Kruger and the Eagle Tail—and he woke suddenly from his calm.

"Here now," he said, cowering as he saw that she was laughing at him. "You've made me and Phil enough trouble. You let that boy alone, savvy?"

He stooped toward her as he spoke, fixing her with masterful eyes that had tamed many a bad horse and man, and she shrank away instinctively. Then she glanced at him shyly and edged over toward the open door.

"I will do what I please, Mr. Hooker," she returned, balancing on the verge of flight.

"All right," Bud came back; "but don't you call me in on it. You've made a fool of Phil—I suppose you'd like to get me, too. Then your father would grab our mine."

"What do you mean?" she challenged, turning back upon him.

"I mean this," responded Hooker warmly. "Phil holds the title to our mine. If he deserts he loses his Mexican citizenship and his claim is no good. But you don't need to think that your father will get the mine then, because he'll have to whip me first!"

"Oh-ho!" she sneered; "so that is what you are thinking of? You are a true gringo, Mr. Hooker—always thinking about the money!"

"Yes," returned Bud; "and even at that I believe your old man will best me!"

She laughed again, with sudden cunningness, and stood tapping the floor with her foot.

"Ah, I see," she said at length, gazing at him reproachfully; "you think I am working for my father. You think I got poor Phil into all this trouble in order to cheat him of his mine. But let me tell you, Senor Gringo," she cried with sudden fire, "that I did not! I have nothing to do with my father and his schemes. But if you do not trust me—"

She turned dramatically to go, but when Hooker made no effort to stay her she returned once more to the attack.

"No," she said, "it was because he was an American—because he was brave—that I put my faith in Phil. These Mexican men are cowards—their blood is afraid to stand and fight! But I have dared to make love to me—dared to sing to me at night—and when Manuel del Rey tried to stop him he stood up and made a fight!"

"Ah, that is what I admire—a man who is brave! And let me tell you, Senor Hooker, I shall always love your friend! If I could run away I would marry him tomorrow; but this Cruz Mendez del Rey, stands in the way. Even my own father is against me. But I don't care—I don't care what happens—only do not think that I am not your friend!"

She paused now and glanced at him shyly, and as her eloquent eyes met his own Bud felt suddenly that she was sincere. The gnawing and corrosive doubts that had made him so hard to tell away, and he saw her now in her full beauty, with no uneasy thoughts of treachery to poison his honest love.

"I believe you, lady," he said. "And I'm glad to know you," he added, taking off his hat and bowing awkwardly. "Anything I can do for you, don't hesitate to ask for it—only I can't go against my partners on this mine."

He bowed again and retreated toward the door, but she followed him impulsively.

"Shake hands," she said, holding out both her own, "and will you help me?"

"Sure!" answered Bud, and as her soft fingers closed on his he took them up in the rocks there somewhere now."

"So!" exclaimed the captain, glancing uneasily at the hillsides. "I did not think—but many thanks, senor, another time will do as well."

He reined his horse away as he spoke and, with a jerk of the head to Aragon, rode rapidly down the canyon. Aragon lingered to retrieve his fallen gun-belt and then, seeming to think better of his desire to speak, he made a single vindictive gesture and set spurs to his champion horse.

It was merely a fling of the hand, an spontaneous as a sigh or a frown, but in it Hooker read the last exasperation of the Spaniard and his declaration of war to the knife. He bared his strong teeth in reply and bled out a blighting curse, and then Aragon was gone.

That evening, as the darkness came on and the canyon became hushed and still Bud built a big fire and stood before it, his rugged form silhouetted against the flames. And soon, as quiet as a fox, the Yaqui appeared from the gloom.

"Did he come for me?" he asked, advancing warily into the frelight, "that captain?"

"Yes," answered Bud, "and for me, too. But you must have known him before, Amigo—he seems to be afraid of you."

A smile of satisfaction passed over the swarthy face of the Indian at this, and then the flames became grim again. His eyes glowed with the light of some great purpose, and for the first time since he had been with Bud he drew aside the veil from his past.

"Yes," he said, nodding significantly, "the rural is afraid. He knows I have come to kill him."

He gestured by the fire and poured out a cup of coffee, still brooding over

CHAPTER XVIII.

A month of weary waiting followed that day of days in Fortuna, and still there was no word from Phil. Bernardo Bravo and his rebel riders passed through the mountains to the east, and news came of heavy fighting in Chihuahua. Don Cipriano Aragon moved his family back to his hacienda and Gracia became only a dream.

Then, one day, as Hooker and the Yaqui were industriously pounding out gold, a messenger came out from town with a telegram in his hand.

Am in Guadalupe. No chance to hold mine. Kruger says cut—P.

"No, I'll be damned if I do!" muttered Bud. Then he sat down to think. "Amigo," he said to the Yaqui, "are you a Mexican citizen? Can you get title to mine?"

"Me a Mexican?" repeated Amigo, tapping himself on the chest. "No, senor! Seguro que no!"

"All right, then," observed Bud bitterly, "there goes nothing—nowhere! I'll turn Mexican myself!"

He passed the messenger on the way to town, took out his first papers as a citizen, picked up the mineral agent's expert on the way back, and located the Eagle Tail in his own name. Before riding back to camp he wired to Kruger:

Have turned Mex and relocated claim. It was his last card, and he did not expect to win by it. Fate had been against him from the first, and he could see his finish, but his nature drove him to fight on. All that Aragon had to do now was to have him summoned for military service, and Del Rey would do the rest.

Then he could take over the mine. A more formal—or so it seemed—between Aragon and his mine stood the Texas blood. Hooker had been crowded to the wall, and he was mad enough to fight.

The news of De Lancy's desertion followed quickly after his flight—it came over the federal wires in a report to Manuel del Rey—but by the time it got to Aragon that gentleman was too late. They rode into camp the next day—Aragon and the captain of the rurales—and at the first glimpse of that hated uniform Amigo was off like a buck. Bud went out angrily to meet him, his black mood showing in his lowering eyes, and he bawled them by the savagery of his cursing.

"You cock-eyed old reprobate," he snarled, advancing threateningly upon the pale Aragon, "this makes three times you've come into my camp and brought your gun with you! Now take it off!" he yelled, dropping suddenly into Spanish. "Take that gun off—do you understand?"

So violent and unexpected was his assault that it threw Aragon into a panic, and even Manuel del Rey softened his manner as he inquired into the cause.

"Never mind," answered Bud, smiling crustily as Aragon laid aside his arms; "I know that hombre well! Now what can I do for you, captain?"

"Be so kind as to take your hand from your belt," replied Del Rey with a smile that was intended to placate. "Ah, thank you—excuse my nervousness, I can tell you the news. I regret to inform you, senor, that your friend, De Lancy has deserted from my command, taking his arms and equipment with him. In case he is captured he will be shot as a deserter."

"Your news is old, captain," rejoined Hooker. "I knew it two days ago. And you can tell Mr. Aragon that it is no use for him to try to get this mine—I became a Mexican citizen yesterday and located it myself."

"So we learned," responded the captain suavely. "It was part of my errand today to ask if you would not enlist in my company of rurales."

"No, senor," answered Amigo quietly; "he died."

He spoke the words simply, but there was something in his voice that brought up images of the past—of peaceful Yaquis, seized at every ranch in Sonora on a certain night; of long marches overland, prodded on by rurales and guards; of the crowded prison-ships from which the most anguished buried themselves into the earth; and then the awful years of slavery in the poisoned tropics, until only the hardiest were left.

Amigo had seen it all, as the scars on his broad face proved—but he withdrew now. As he sat there his thoughts unaided. As he sat there his thoughts unaided. As he sat there his thoughts unaided.

"He was to be shot at sunrise. But mine, amigo, I am not in jail, and furthermore, I do not intend to be."

"That is very creditable to you," laughed Del Rey; "but even then you are entitled to enlist. The country is full of turbulent fellows who have to be caught or killed. Come now, you understand my errand—why make it hard for me?"

"No, senor," returned Bud grimly. "I know nothing of your errand. But this I do know. I have done nothing for which I can be arrested, and if any man tries to make me join the army—I'll hook his thumb into his belt and regard the captain freely."

"Ah, very well," said Del Rey, jerking his waxed mustaches. "I will not press the matter. But I understand from one of my men, senor, that you are harboring a dangerous criminal here—the same man, perhaps, whom I saw running up the canyon?"

He smiled meaningly at this, but Bud was swift to defend his Yaqui.

"No, senor," he replied, "I have no such criminal. I have a Mexican working for me who is one of the best miners in Sonora, and that is all I know about him."

"A Mexican?" repeated Del Rey, arching his eyebrows. "Excuse me, sir, but it is my business to know every man in this district, and he is no Mexican, but a Yaqui. Moreover, he is a fugitive and an outlaw, and if he had not been enlisted with the federales I should have arrested him when he passed through Fortuna. So I warn you, sir, not to hide him, or you will be liable to the law."

"I'm not hiding him," protested Hooker scornfully. "I'm just hiring him as a miner, and any time you want him you can come and get him. He's cept a stranger's check, and we had to take the cash along with us. We also carried along our branding iron, and put our brand on the cattle as soon as we bought them."

"One day we bought a little bunch of yearlings from a widow, and among them was a motherless calf that had been reared as a pet."

"We penned the yearlings in the lady's cowpen, and when we began the work of branding I pulled off my coat and hung it on a corner of the rail fence. In the inside pocket of my coat was a leather bill book that contained $750 in $10 and $20 bills. While we were busy at our work, the pet calf pulled the bill book out of my coat pocket, and in some way got it open; before we discovered him, he had swallowed the entire $750, and was chewing on the bill book."

"Of course there was nothing for us to do except to kill the calf. This we did, and in its stomach we found the mutilated money, but in the whole lot there was not a scrap larger than a postage stamp. We took the sticky mass of paper and spread it out on a wagon sheet, and turned it until it was perfectly dry. Then we took it to the nearest post office and sent it to Washington. The treasury department redeemed $780 of the money."—Youth's Companion.

CHAPTER XIX.

It was June and the windstorms which had swept in from the south-east died away. No more, as in the months that had passed, did the dust-plug rise from the dump of the Fortuna mill and go swirling up the canyon.

A great calm and heat settled over the harassed land, and above the far blue wall of the Sierras the first thunder caps of the rainy season rose up till they obscured the sky. Then, with a rush of scolding winds, a leaden silence, and a crash of flickering light, the storm burst in tropic fury and was gone as quickly as it had come.

So, while the rich landowners of the hot country sat idle and watched it grow, another storm gathered behind the distant Sierras; and, as empty rumors lulled them to a false security, suddenly from the north came the news of despatching of railroads, cut, troops routed, and the whole border occupied by swarming rebels.

In a day the southern country was isolated and cut off from escape and while the hordes of Chihuahua insurgents laid siege to Agua Negra, the belated Spanish bandoleros came scuttling once more to Fortuna. There, at least, was an American town where the courage of the Anglo-Saxon would protect their women in extremity. And, it went came to worst, it was better to pay ransom to red-clad generals than to fall victims to bandits and looters.

As the bass roar of the great whistle reverberated over the hills Bud Hooker left his lonely camp almost gladly, and with his hard-won gold dust safe beneath his belt, went galloping into town.

Not for three weeks—not since he received the wire from Phil and located the Eagle Tail mine—had he dared to leave his claim. Rurales, outlaws and Mexican patriots had dropped from day to day and eaten up most of his food, but none of them had caught him napping, and he had no intention that they should.

A conspiracy had sprung up to get rid of him, to hurry him out of the country, and behind it was Aragon. Bud now, with the big whistle blowing, Aragon would have other concerns.

He had his wife and daughter, the beautiful Gracia, to hurry to the town, and perhaps the thought of being caught and held for ransom would deter him from stealing mines. So reasoned Bud, and, dragging a reluctant pack-animal behind him, he came riding in for supplies.

At the store he bought flour and coffee and the other things which he needed most. As he was passing by the hotel Don Juan de Dios halted him for a moment, rushing out and thrusting a bundle of letters into his hands and hurrying back into the house, as if fearful of being detected in such an act of friendship.

Long before he had lost his partner Bud had decided that Don Juan was a white wale of a whip.

It was the mark of his former slavery when, with the rest of his people, he had been deported to the benighted fields of Yucatan and flogged by the overseer's lash—and Amigo was ashamed of it. But now that he was about to go, Bud made bold to ask him one more question, to set his mind at rest.

"Perhaps this captain killed your people?"

"No, senor," answered Amigo quietly; "he died."

He spoke the words simply, but there was something in his voice that brought up images of the past—of peaceful Yaquis, seized at every ranch in Sonora on a certain night; of long marches overland, prodded on by rurales and guards; of the crowded prison-ships from which the most anguished buried themselves into the earth; and then the awful years of slavery in the poisoned tropics, until only the hardiest were left.

Name Your Farm.
Every farmer in Wood county should name his farm.
It lends dignity to the farmers profession and establishes a reputation for each farm, peculiarly its own.
Use stationery with the name of the farm on it.
The business of farming demands well printed stationery as much as any other business. The satisfaction you will get from the use of printed stationery is worth more than the small sum it will cost.
To induce farmers to name their farms we will make this Special Offer:
100 good quality white envelopes, No. 6 1/2, and 100 good white note heads, 6x9 1/2, to match above, with name of farm, name of proprietor and address printed on, for $1.75
250 each of the above for $2.50
500 each of the above for $3.80
Write copy plain and state if ruled or unruled paper is wanted.
Send 6 cents additional for each 100 noteheads and envelopes if job is to be sent by mail.
Send in your orders, or when in town come in and ask us about these prices.

Read these closing particulars carefully and be sure you understand them. The contest closes for one and for all at 5 o'clock Saturday, August 15, 1914. All votes must be delivered at the Tribune office by that hour—one minute late and we cannot accept your report. If you intend to mail your report, better mail same so that it will reach Grand Rapids early in the morning of the 15th. It will be best to make your report in person or through one of your friends. The Contest Manager will make his final count of votes on Wednesday August 12th and the same will appear in the Tribune on August 12th. All the votes turned in after the 12th will be counted by three judges who will be well known business men of this city and are entirely disinterested. These judges will merely count the votes found in the ballot box, and to that total will add the total as they appear according to the contest manager's last count, thus securing the grand total for each contestant, and the highest standing contestant. In order to secure an ABSOLUTELY SQUARE DEAL to each contestant we will allow each contestant to make their report on the last day in the following manner. The ballot box will be sealed and the key placed in the hands of one of the judges. Contestants may make report directly into the sealed box instead of the Contest Manager on the last day if they wish, in the following manner: Just make out your subscription report as usual. Be very careful to see that they are correct, then place same with money (cash, money order or draft) in an envelope, write your name on the outside and deposit in the sealed ballot box. No one can tell what is reported on the last day, therefore it will be impossible for any tips or information to be given other than that which is given to each and every one. This will make the final voting absolutely secret, even from the contest manager. The judges will make their count immediately after 5 p. m., the 15th at the Bank of Grand Rapids, and will issue votes on the sealed report in accordance with the regular vote schedule no extra votes are given the last 5 days. Contestants are not forced to deposit their report in the ballot box on the last day unless they wish, and may make report in the usual manner directly to the Contest Manager, if they see fit. If you expect to make your report directly to the Contest Manager, we request that you do so by 4 o'clock p. m. of the last day, as he will be very busy during the last few hours. And be sure that you get your report in by 5 p. m. the 15th—your watch might be slow—don't take any chances. Go after the five and ten year subscriptions and do not lose your nerve, for that would mean your defeat. If you have any questions to ask now is the time to ask them. Compare your record of your votes with that of the Contest Manager.

SHEBOYGAN BAND ENGAGED
It Includes Fifty-five Musicians and Was the Hit of Last Year's Fair —Will Play Tuesday and Wednesday.
SEE BEACHEY FLY
Beachey is really the one man who outflies birds.
Three times each day during the fair, beginning Sept. 15, he will loop-the-loop several times, fly upside down (which a bird cannot do) and volplane, which mean that he will go up 3,000 or 4,000 feet then drop 1,200 feet nearly straight down.
There isn't any aviator in the world who does half what Beachey does.
If you see him at the fair you will never regret your trip to the fair.
BAND SCHEDULE.
Monday—Clauder's, Racine.
Tuesday—Clauder's, Sheboygan, Dodgeville.
Wednesday—Clauder's, Sheboygan, Madison.
Thursday—Clauder's, Beloit, Portage.
Friday—Clauder's, Green Bay.
Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 11.—There will be plenty of music at the state fair this year. The Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture has contracted for eight bands and means that he will go up 3,000 or 4,000 feet then drop 1,200 feet nearly straight down.
There isn't any aviator in the world who does half what Beachey does.
If you see him at the fair you will never regret your trip to the fair.

OF NEKOOSA
Republican Candidate for Assemblyman
Primaries Sept. 1, 1914
DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES.
To the Voters of Wood County:—
In becoming a candidate for member of the Assembly, if nominated, I shall devote my time and attention to the business affairs of the state, giving my best services thereto and promoting economy and efficiency in all its departments and institutions. Greater economy in all public affairs is not only desirable but mandatory; expenses should be kept within our revenues. This step should be along constructive and not destructive lines. The right for the rule of the people is on. Shall the people through its representatives rule the state and say what shall be done with their money? Every institution of the state is subject to the will of the people or should be. It is not necessary to injure any institution or useful department. Our expenses should be governed by our revenues; the indirect taxes received by the state purposes.
Every institution and department of state should be carefully investigated and the cost of each and its revenues should be laid before the legislature for its guidance in its appropriations and should be in such shape that each legislator can understand the finances of the state.
Full investigation should be made of the needs of the State of the present Boards and Commissions and departments and by consolidation and such elimination as may be found possible the number of offices and office holders should be reduced. Wherever there is duplication of service that should be remedied; the expenses of our large inspection service can be materially reduced by transferring their duties to other departments; the number of employees should be under the control of the legislature and main salaries fixed by law.
Shorter sessions of the legislature are also to be desired and this can be accomplished by the introduction of such bills as the people demand and the necessity of the state requires, better laws and their more efficient administration are more to be desired than many new enactments.
Our University should be carefully investigated and such laws enacted to govern it as will be satisfactory to the people.

Aug. 12. Bids For Bonds Wanted.
State of Wisconsin, Wood County in Circuit Court.
In the Matter of the Wood County Drainage District.
Notice is hereby given that the commissioners of the Wood County Drainage District desire to borrow money upon bonds of said district authorized to construct ditches in said district which bonds are to be paid during a series of years.
Said commissioners invite proposals to take said bonds at a premium. Said bonds amount to $41,014.64, bear six per cent annual interest, payable semi-annually, and are payable in fifteen annual installments, the first of which is payable Sept. 1, 1915 and one installment is payable each year thereafter until all are paid—each installment except the last being $2,900.00.
Make your offer of the best premium that you will pay therefor.
All proposals and other communications concerning these bonds should be addressed to B. G. Chandos, Secy., Grand Rapids, Wis. All proposals must be received by Sept. 3, 1914 at 10:00 o'clock a. m.
Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or cash deposit of $1,000.00 to be returned in case the proposal is accepted and bonds paid for, otherwise to be liquidated damages for the breach of the contract.
Right to reject any and all proposals is reserved.

Name Your Farm.
Every farmer in Wood county should name his farm.
It lends dignity to the farmers profession and establishes a reputation for each farm, peculiarly its own.
Use stationery with the name of the farm on it.
The business of farming demands well printed stationery as much as any other business. The satisfaction you will get from the use of printed stationery is worth more than the small sum it will cost.
To insure farmers to name their farm the Sentinel will make this Special offer more generally, The Grand Rapids Tribune will make this SPECIAL OFFER:
100 good quality white envelopes, No. 6 1/2, and 100 good white note heads, 5x9 1/2, to match above, with name of farm, name of proprietor and address printed on, for...$1.75
250 each of the above for...$2.50

500 each of the above for...$3.50
Write copy plain and state if ruled or unruled paper is wanted.
Send 6 cents additional for each 100 noteheads and envelopes if job is to be sent by mail.
Send in your orders, or when in town come in and ask us about these prices.

Wednesday—Claude's, Sheboygan, Madison.
Thursday—Claude's, Beloit, Portage.
Friday—Claude's, Green Bay.
Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 11.—There will be plenty of music at the state fair this year. The Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture has contracted for eight bands and one orchestra. An orchestra may seem out of place at a fair, but it is for use in the judging pavilion where band music has been found too heavy. While the judges are awarding prizes an orchestra of nine pieces will be flooding the pavilion with popular airs and classical music.
Claude's State band will play all of the five days. It includes thirty-five of Milwaukee's best musicians. It is possible that this band will be heard down town each night of the fair week, Sept. 14 to 18.
The largest band engaged is the famous Sheboygan band of fifty-five pieces. This organization was the musical hit of the fair in 1913, and this is why it has been re-engaged for the 1914 fair. The band includes fifty-five men, and it will be at the fair on Tuesday, Milwaukee Day and on Wednesday, State and Governor's Day.
All of the other bands engaged come highly recommended, and they include from twenty-five to thirty-five men.
A feature of the fair music this year will be a State Fair march written by Walter Claude, who has succeeded the late Joseph Claude as leader of the Claude band. Mr. Claude is at work on the march, and it will be played every day at the fair. It will be dedicated to the 1914 state fair.
Another big feature planned is to have all bands on the grounds at a certain hour each afternoon play national airs as one band.
Plans for music down town each night are being made by the Citizens Business League state fair committee. It is the intention of the committee to make Milwaukee each night of fair week a city of light and music.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS
Council Chambers August 4, 1914.
Council met in regular session, Mayor Cohen Presiding.
Present: Aldermen Bamberg, Ketchum, Gaultke, Schnabel, Calkins, Mol Carthy, Getzlaff, Plazke, Lukasecki, Gilmaster, Mueller, Wittrock, Damon, Jackson, Bennhose, Jeffery.
On motion the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with and the minutes approved.
The board of public works reported as follows:
Grand Rapids, Wis. July 25th, 1914
The Board of Public Works met pursuant to call.
Present: Aldermen Calkins, Jeffery, Getzlaff and Bamberg. Moved and seconded that we sprinkle Roosevelt Street between third ave. North and Fourth ave. North with oil and charge it to property owners.
The petition asking to sprinkle 3rd ave. south from Johnson street to Goggin street was on motion and was by unanimous vote of the board laid over to the next council meeting.
Moved and seconded that the city instruct the City Attorney to draw up a contract with the Highway Commission for the renting of the steam roller in accordance with the action of the council at the last meeting. Clerk instructed to write scale manufacturers in reference to buying a new scale for the East Side market.
Chris Getzlaff, J. J. Jeffery, J. Bamberg, F. W. Calkins
The above report of the Board of Public Works was accepted by a unanimous vote of the council the clerk calling the roll.
The committee appointed at the last meeting of the council to investigate the claim of Wm. Johnson against the city and to effect a final settlement if possible reports as follows:
To the Hon. Mayor and Common Council of the city of Grand Rapids Wisconsin.
Gentlemen:
We, your committee appointed to confer with Wm. Johnson and try and effect settlement for his injury beg leave to report that we met with Mr. Johnson and Dr. Pomerville and are advised by Dr. Pomerville that Mr. Johnson is still disabled about 25 per cent and will probably always be disabled. We suggest that he be paid $500 in full settlement and are advised by Mr. C. E. Briere, Mr. Johnson's attorney that full releases will be given the city upon the payment of the said sum. All of which is respectfully submitted.
Dated August 4, 1914.
Frank W. Calkins
A. C. Gilmaster
F. M. Schnabel
Committee

Grand Rapids, Wis. Aug. 4, 1914
To the Hon. Mayor and Com. Council of the City of Grand Rapids, Wis.
Gentlemen:
In re William Johnson, vs. City of Grand Rapids.
At the request of one of the Members of your Special Committee in the above entitled matter I investigated the law, applicable in the case of William Johnson and find that the law, as it existed at the time of his injury would entitle him to receive, in addition to the hospital bills, etc. 65 per cent of his loss in wage, until said sum would aggregate four times his annual income. This might entitle him to permanently disabled to about $2,000.00, collectable weekly. After figuring his loss of wage earning on account of his injury and might draw out the liability of the city for several years until said aggregate sum is paid to him. The law at the present time limits this liability to a less sum, but I am convinced that the City's liability would be determined according to the law as it existed at the time of his injury and I would therefore recommend as favorable an adjustment as the committee might make for a lump sum, less than the City's aggregate liability.
Dated this 4th day of Aug., A. D. 1914.
All of which is respectfully submitted.
G. P. Hambrecht, City Attorney.
The above report of the committee was adopted by a unanimous vote of the Council the Clerk calling the roll and the Clerk ordered to pay Mr. Johnson $500.00 in final settlement of his claim upon presentation of proper release approved by City Attorney.
The street Committee reported as follows:
Grand Rapids, Wis. July 3, 1914.
To the Hon. Mayor and Common Council of Grand Rapids.
Gentlemen:
We, the undersigned petition your honorable body, to lay out and grade for a side walk on the easterly side of (8) ave. south beginning on (3) ave and thence running north one block.
We the committee to whom was referred the within petition beg to report that we do not see fit to grant this petition as it stands at present for the reason that it would be a block of walk without a connecting walk at either end, and would suggest that the petitioners herein extend this petition to cover and include the block next north of the one referred to in this petition.
Chris Getzlaff, Chas. Getzlaff, H. F. Gaultke, Petitioners
Thomas Bratton, M. N. Carey by C. E. Boles, his agent, Grand Street R. R. Co. by H. F. Kempfert, Supt.
The report of the street committee on the above petition was adopted by a vote of 9 ayes to 7 nays.
The following Aldermen dissenting: Lukasecki, Gilmaster, Mueller, Wittrock, Damon, Jackson, Jeffery.
The Sewer Committee reported as follows in reference to drainage at or near Grand Ave. and 20th ave.
To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.
Gentlemen:
We the undersigned Sewer Committee to whom was referred the question of investigating the drainage proposition on 20th and Grand Avenues, and the proposition of constructing a bridge across Grand ave. at 20th ave, wish to report as follows:
We do not recommend the constructing of a bridge at said 20th avenue.
We do recommend the construction of a ditch on the east and west quarter line of section 12 Twp. 22 Range 5 East, commencing on the Range line, (the same being 19th ave.) and run West one mile and empty into the Little Moccasin Creek at the Pease farm.
We recommend said ditch to be constructed 3 feet wide on the bottom and 4 feet deep, sloping sides 1 foot to 1 foot. This ditch can be constructed and the dirt thrown on the South Side of said ditch, so that the same will help in making a road along said quarter line.
It is the opinion of said Committee and the City Engineer, that the construction of said ditch will divert all the water now coming down said 20th ave. creek and a large part of the water coming down 11th ave. into the Little Moccasin Creek.
The City Engineer estimates the cost of said ditch to be about $739.20 and if constructed during the dry season, when the road grader can be used thereon at about one-half that amount.
We therefore recommend that a four foot right of way be obtained on said quarter line the owners of said land to donate said right of way, and said ditch be constructed, with the view of eventually building a road along said line on the south side of said ditch.
Dated August 4, 1914.
Sewer Committee by J. J. Jeffery Chm. H. F. Gaultke Max Whitrock J. J. Jeffery F. W. Calkins
The above matter was upon recommendation of the Mayor referred to the Street Committee and the Sewer Committee for further investigation.
The following petition was on motion referred to the Sidewalk Committee.
To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council, Grand Rapids, Wis.
Gentlemen:

The following is a report of the City Attorney on the above bill.
Grand Rapids, Wis., Aug. 4, 1914.
To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.
Gentlemen:
In re Pomerville et. al. vs. City of Grand Rapids.
The attorneys for the several appellants in the above entitled matter presented their claim against the City to me for review. Among other things they are entitled, by law, to tax the sum of $32.60 for cost, in each of the cases pending, but the attorneys finally agreed to reduce this taxable cost to $15.00 per case, except the Pomerville case, which is taxed at $109.61, making a total of $514.61.
Taxes paid by appellants in the above entitled matter amounted to $3473.13.
Interest $311.83
Taxable cost 514.61
Total $4307.57
The original claim of appellants was for $4327.52, but in computing this amount there was an over-charge in the F. L. Steib, taxes amounting to $20.25, which leaves a net balance be paid the several appellants where $4307.57.
I have carefully examined the several accounts and claims and checked them with the originals and find the balance correct, and would recommend at this time that this amount be paid the several appellants where by the City would save over $500.00 on cost.
All of which is respectfully submitted
G. P. Hambrecht, City Attorney.
If allowed above amount should be spread on tax roll for ensuing year.
Moved and seconded that the above bill be allowed and paid, and that the City Comptroller spread the same on the tax roll. Motion carried by unanimous vote of the Council, the Clerk calling the roll.
The matter of buying a City Scale for the East Side market square was on motion referred to the Board of Public Works with authority to buy a scale, also to arrange for a City Weighmaster on each market square and to make a deal with them so the City would retain a portion of the fees collected for weighing.
Motion carried by a unanimous vote of the Council the Clerk calling the roll.
The City Clerk instructed to make an estimate of the cost of Workman's Compensation Insurance for the City.
In the matter of Mr. C. E. Boles et al asking the City to vacate certain streets at or near the cemetery. On motion and by a vote of 15 ayes to one nay the petition was denied. Alderman Jeffery voting in the minority.

The Percheron was first introduced into America about fifty years ago, and it seems to be growing in favor. The breed is known for its characteristic gray color. However, black is coming into favor as a color, and the boys, roans and chestnuts may be found. The Percheron is a massive, heavily muscled animal, from 16 to 22 hands high, weighing usually from 1,600 to 2,200 pounds. The Percheron has good action, although it is said that the stride is not as short nor quite so active as that of the Clydesdale, not put in stitches (sutures) if the wound is deep or ragged or in a place that will not be perfectly at rest when the horse is standing, walking, lying down or rising. It therefore is useless to stitch a wound in front of the hock joint or on the thin skin in the bend of any joint or in the skin and muscles of the rear parts which are strained and used in rising. Often a horse suffers a wide open wound of the skin and the muscles at the side of the tail inflicted by the kick of the horse in the next stall. This wound rarely can be sutured successfully. The stitches tear out when the horse gets up, and the wound is made worse than before. Tie up the animal so that he cannot lie down when such a wound has to be treated. It may then be sutured if the muscles are not deeply cut. The wound then should be wetted often with white lotion, or a dry dusting powder may be applied twice a day.
A cheap dusting powder is made by mixing together equal parts of slaked lime, sulphur and charcoal. Run this through a flour sifter to make it fine. This is a good powder to dust on large sores. In fly time add a dram of iodoform per ounce and the flies will be kept off. A more expensive dusting powder for use on sores and wounds may be made by mixing together one dram of iodoform and seven drams of boracic acid. This is good powder to use on a wound of the hoof head (coronet). Such wounds should not be stitched. Cleanse them, clip away the hair, dust freely with the powder, then cover with cotton batting or absorbent cotton and bandage snugly. Renew the dressing once daily. If there is a big wound and a flap of skin a callosus bunch is likely to remain when the wound has healed. This can be largely prevented by placing a flat wad of oakum over the first turn or two of the bandage immediately upon the flap and wound and then bandaging tightly to cause pressure upon the part.
When a horse gets a nail prick, and such wounds are very common and serious, always have the wound cut down upon to give vent to any blood, serum or pus which should come away. Even the slight nail wound should be so handled. After the cutting saturate the wound with a one five-hundredths solution of corrosive sublimate and then cover with the last prescribed dusting powder, absorbent cotton and bandage. Renew the dressing daily. If pus issues from the wound be careful to cut away every part of the underhorn horn or sole; then swab with the corrosive sublimate solution and use dusting powder and cotton and bandage once a day. Pouring turpentine in a nail prick does not cure it. The slight wound may be followed by lockjaw. The treatment we have prescribed prevents that disease.

Snug Harbor.
More than 100 years ago a sailor died, leaving an apple orchard comprising twenty-one acres of land, then in the suburbs of the city of New York. He left it for the purpose of establishing a home for aged, indigent and infirm sailors. This was the foundation of the Sailors' Snug Harbor, on Staten Island, where nearly 800 worn-out sailors are enjoying all the comforts of home in their declining years. The little apple orchard of more than 100 years ago is now in the heart of New York city, with a value estimated at $200,000.

TREATMENT FOR CUTS ON HORSES.
When a horse gets a burr wire cut do not apply axle grease or any greasy substance, writes A. S. Alexander, M. D. C. L. the Farm Journal. Wash the part clean. Clip off the hair around the wound and then wash again to get rid of hair and any foreign substance that may have lodged in the wound. If necessary to remove sand, earth or cinders from a wound, due to a fall, for instance, use clean cotton batting or absorbent cotton and not a sponge. A sponge becomes dirty and readily infects a wound. Each day use fresh absorbent cotton to do any cleansing necessary in treating a wound or sore. When the wound has been cleaned do

FLAMES THAT ARE NURSED.
Siam's Sacred Fire and the Fires of Vengeance of Sicily.
History records many strange examples of fires that are kept burning for long periods of time. The best known examples are those of pagan people who keep up perpetual fires as a religious custom.
The oldest known fire in the world is that in a Buddhist temple near Bangkok, Siam, which has been burning without interruption for two centuries. A priest is always on guard to watch the sacred flame. Every four years a new flame is kindled, but this is always lighted in the great brazier from a brand of the old fire.
The life of a grand vizier in Persia was once saved by a Parsee trader, who discovered and exposed a plot to kill the royal official. In spite of the fact that the Persians are Mohammedans and hold fire worshippers in contempt, a single flame has been kept burning continuously for seventy years at Sarhad in honor of the humble trader.
In inhabited lands within the arctic circle fires have been known to burn for years. This, however, is not so much a custom as it is a simple practice based on reasons of convenience and necessity because of the scarcity of wood or kindling of any kind to produce ignition. Oil is the fuel of the people of the snows.
In Sicily it has long been the custom of the vendetta to maintain the "fire of vengeance" until one's enemy has been slain. The criminal records of that fiery island are full of instances of fires that were kept up for years until death overtook the unfortunate victim whose life had been marked for destruction.—New York Times.

YOU know, all tobacco users know what is the matter with ordinary chewing tobacco! Everywhere men are saying to their friends that "Right-Cut" is the Real Tobacco Chew.
Pure, mellow, full bodied tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.
Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few clews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it's the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.
It is a really clean, cool and short aired so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary canned tobacco makes you spit for a while.
The taste of pure, full tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right Cut."

YOU know, all tobacco users know what is the matter with ordinary chewing tobacco! Everywhere men are saying to their friends that "Right-Cut" is the Real Tobacco Chew.
Pure, mellow, full bodied tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.
Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few clews you take to be tobacco satisfied. Charley Nash entertained a party of friends at the Hotel Dixon on Friday evening. The cause of the demonstration was an eighteen pound muskellunge which Mr. Nash received from W. W. Meade that morning, and the fish was baked in proper style, and with the necessary trimmings made a very attractive feast.

DOG DAYS ARE HERE.

There is at this season of the year a greater number of mad dogs than at any other. Indeed, practically all cases occur in the summer. People should therefore be acquainted with the nature of the disease. While there is no warrant for being hysterical about mad dogs, still there is good reason for being prepared to meet danger that is still too common to permit its being entirely comfortable.

According to a report of the state board of health, 238 persons were treated at the state hygienic laboratory between the opening, November 14, 1909, and June 30, 1912. These patients were, for the most part, bitten by dogs actually known to have been infected with rabies. This furnishes sufficient evidence that the possibility of danger in this direction is not remote.

Rabies is an absolutely fatal disease, when once developed, and death is accompanied by the most horrible agony. Science, however, has provided an absolute preventive known as the "Pasteur Treatment." Any person who has been bitten by a dog actually mad, should undergo treatment. While it is not necessary that every person bitten should have the Pasteur treatment, it is of the greatest importance that every individual bitten by an animal actually rabid should be so treated.

It is a great mistake to kill a dog on suspicion that it may have the disease. Instead of this, a suspected dog which has bitten someone should be locked up or chained long enough to learn its condition. A dog killed upon suspicion may prevent the possibility of making certain as to whether or not it had the disease. For this reason it becomes difficult to decide as to whether or not it is absolutely necessary for individuals bitten to undergo treatment. The brain of a suspected dog should be sent to the hygienic laboratory for examination. If it is determined that the laboratory that the case is actually rabid, all individuals bitten by such dog should be given the Pasteur treatment.

Where it is impossible to decide with absolute certainty whether or not the dog has been rabid, it is infinitely better to take chance of unnecessary treatment than to assume the positive certainty of an agonizing death from the untreated disease.

Attorney R. R. Williams of Marshfield was among the business callers in the city on Monday. Mr. Williams is the secretary of the Marshfield fair association and was doing a little advertising for this institution. He is also a candidate for the nomination of member of assembly on the republican ticket this fall, and while here was looking after his interests in this respect.

Dell White was up before the circuit court at Stevens Point on Thursday on a charge of having broken his parole. After hearing the facts in the case it was decided to give him another chance provided he would take the Keely cure, which he consented to do. It seems that White is all right as long as he remains sober, but for several years past he has been drinking to excess and the result is that no dependence can be put in him. Dell has many friends in this city who will hope to see him straighten up and get on the right road again.

The cement work for the east side market square was completed on Saturday afternoon, and the laying of brick on Second street was commenced Wednesday morning. It was considerable of a surprise to our citizens to note the size of the east side market square when the entire space had been cleaned off, as before a large share of the space had been taken up by sheds, dump carts, steam rollers and other paraphernalia belonging to the city. The city, by the way, should have sheds and buildings for the housing of the machinery belonging to it, as it would be a money saver in the long run.

DOG DAYS ARE HERE.

There is at this season of the year a greater number of mad dogs than at any other. Indeed, practically all cases occur in the summer. People should therefore be acquainted with the nature of the disease. While there is no warrant for being hysterical about mad dogs, still there is good reason for being prepared to meet danger that is still too common to permit us being entirely comfortable.

According to a report of the state board of health, 228 persons were treated at the state hygienic laboratory between the opening, November 14, 1909, and June 30, 1912. These patients were, for the most part, bitten by dogs actually known to have been infected with rabies. This forms sufficient evidence that the possibility of danger in this direction is not remote.

Rabies is an absolutely fatal disease, when once developed, and death is accompanied by the most horrible agony. Science, however, has provided an absolute preventive known as the "Pasteur Treatment." Any person who has been bitten by a dog actually mad, should undergo treatment. While it is not necessary that every person bitten should have the Pasteur treatment, it is of the greatest importance that every individual bitten by an animal actually rabid should be so treated.

It is a great mistake to kill a dog on suspicion that it may have the disease. Instead of this, a suspected dog which has bitten someone should be locked up or chained long enough to learn its condition. A dog killed upon suspicion may prevent the possibility of making certain as to whether or not it had the disease. For this reason it becomes difficult to decide as to whether or not it is absolutely necessary for individuals bitten to undergo treatment. The brain of a suspected dog should be sent to the hygienic laboratory for examination. If it is determined at the laboratory that the case is actually rabid, all individuals bitten by such dog should be given the Pasteur treatment.

Where it is impossible to decide with absolute certainty whether or not the dog has been rabid, it is infinitely better to take chance of unnecessary treatment than to assume the positive certainty of an agonizing death from the untreated disease.

BRITAIN JOINS IN WAR ON GERMANY

KAISER TO FIGHT THREE GREAT POWERS

All Europe aflame as King George V. casts lot with Russia and France.

BELGIUM IS ALSO HOSTILE; ITALY AND JAPAN CANNOT LONG MAINTAIN NEUTRALITY

London, Aug. 5.—King George V. of Great Britain, urged on by the cries of thousands who surrounded Buckingham palace, Tuesday night signed a formal declaration of war against Germany.

By this act England joined her allies in the triple entente, France and Russia, and all Europe is aflame with war.

The momentous decision of the British government came before the time limit set by Great Britain in her ultimatum to Germany demanding a satisfactory reply on the subject of Belgian neutrality. Germany's reply was the summary rejection of the request that Belgian neutrality should be respected.

Ambassador Gets Passports.

The British ambassador at Berlin thereupon received his passports and the British government notified Germany that a state of war existed between the two countries.

With the declaration of war by Great Britain against Germany, the stage was set for the greatest clash of arms in the history of the world.

Not since Napoleon marched triumphantly through Europe, with visions of supreme control, has the continent been sleeping on its arms as it is Tuesday night. And strange as it may seem, the country which finally checked his career at the battle of Waterloo, is now reaching a hand across the channel to grasp that of its former foe, and the two are arrayed with Russia against Germany, a natural enemy of France.

All Europe involved.

All Europe now is involved in this gigantic war, which must result in the destruction of carefully planned and built navies and the devastation of armies nurtured and drilled for generations.

On the one hand is Austria-Hungary and Germany as the principal combatants, members of the triple alliance. Italy is mobilizing her troops and diplomats declare she can not much longer remain neutral, but must cast her fortunes with Germany and Austria-Hungary as the third member of the triple alliance.

Another probable ally for these countries is Turkey, which will be drawn into the conflict to protect Constantinople from the advance of the Russians.

Opposing these four countries is England, France and Russia, comprising the triple entente. Their allies may be many, and the war strength of Germany and her allies may be called upon to face an almost uncountable foe.

Servia will fight with the triple entente, naturally. The assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, successor to the Austrian throne, in the Servian capital, was the remote cause of this European war, and it was the refusal of Servia to accede to demands of Austria that added fuel to the flame.

Joins Triple Entente.

Belgium has mobilized her army and a virtual state of war exists between that country and Germany. That places Belgium on the side of the triple entente.

Little Holland, with an army of 160,000, is likely to be drawn into the war as an ally of England because of the invasion of her territory by Germany.

Sweden has made no answer to inquiries from Russia and Germany regarding her attitude, but is preparing to defend her neutrality.

Japan May Assist England.

Japan is making ready to live up to her alliance with Great Britain in the event of an attack by Germany upon the British possessions in the far east. The vital importance of Belgium in this war lies in the fact that unless Germany may move across Belgian territory, neutralized by treaty, an invasion of France would have to be through the heavily fortified French frontier proper.

The entire northeastern frontier of France is, roughly, 440 miles in length. For a distance of about 250 miles this frontier line separates France from Belgium and Luxembourg. The remainder, about 190 miles, separates France from German territory.

Kaiser Makes an Early Break with Country of Czar.

London, Aug. 2.—Events in the European crisis developed on Saturday with startling rapidity. The German ultimatum to Russia demanding that Russia cease the mobilization of her army, expired at noon and at 5:15 o'clock in the afternoon, the German emperor signed a mobilization order.

At 7:30 o'clock the German ambassador at St. Petersburg, Count von Pourtales, delivered a declaration of war in the name of his government to the Russian government and the entire staff of the embassy immediately left St. Petersburg.

Declaration Comes Early.

Although after the warlike speeches delivered by the German ambassador and the imperial chancellor at Berlin on Friday, no other result could be expected, hopes that the dread event might be averted had been raised by the intervention of King George in St. Petersburg and the fact that the German ambassador was not conveyed until Tuesday. Hence the actual declaration of war had not been expected for another day or two.

German Emperor Blames Czar.

The German emperor and his advisers have maintained to the last that they made supreme efforts for the sake of peace and that the last of the series of earnest appeals from Emperor William to Emperor Nicholas was a telegram repudiating responsibility for the calamity.

He took the ground that while Germany was engaged in mediating with Austria-Hungary at Russia's request, Russia, by her general mobilization, was threatening Germany's safety.

While the Kaiser originally intended to postpone his declaration of war until Tuesday when the reichstag would meet in the imperial palace of Berlin, it is believed that the stand taken by France induced him to hasten his decision.

As in the war with France in 1870, Germany hopes to steal a march on her opponents by taking the offensive before her enemies have had time to mass their armies along the German frontier.

Such activities are being carried beyond the limits prescribed by the neutrality laws.

The neutrality laws not only forbid the departing of armed expeditions from the United States directed against a friendly nation, but enlistments are specifically prohibited. The individual foreigner is left free to make his way as an individual out of the country, but extension to him of aid in the shape of passage money and expenses and any attempt to direct his movements to certain rendezvous in a foreign country is believed by some officials here to be of questionable legality and akin to enlistment.

May Seize Gold Exports.

New York, Aug. 2.—If there is a general European war within the next few days, $25,000,000 in gold, now on the high seas, will probably be made sought after. Nearly all the ships flying foreign flags, and if the nation to which they are attached as auxiliary or reserve boats is involved in the war, the gold ships are fair prey. The St. Louis, which carried $11,000,000 in gold from New York today, would not be subject to seizure. She flies the American flag.

"Gun Running" May Start.

New York, Aug. 1.—Already the arms and ammunition industry in this country is being stimulated by the present crisis in Europe, and before many days pass it is believed that the old method of "gun running" will be revived.

26 Killed in First Air Battle.

Brussels, Aug. 2.—The first battle in the air was fought today near Nancy, between a French aeroplane and a German dirigible. Every man engaged in the fight was killed.

According to the reports received here tonight Roland Garros, the French flyer, sighted the German dirigible shortly after it had crossed the border from Alsace Lorraine. The dirigible was an enormous affair of the Zeppelin type and was manned by twenty-five German soldiers.

Garros drove his fleet monoplane straight at the dirigible. Instantly the huge gas bag exploded with a terrific detonation followed by a burst of flame. The monoplane, hopelessly tangled in the wreckage of the dirigible, crashed with it to the earth engulfed in flames and without a chance to clear itself from the debris. Garros and the 25 German soldiers were dead before they struck the ground.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—This has been the greatest war day that the German empire has ever known. Twice on Tuesday Imperial Chancellor Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg issued formal declarations of war, and once came news that the nation had declared war on Germany.

Early in the day there came from the imperial palace a notification that Emperor William had been given the support of the reichstag by the passage of a $1,250,000,000 war fund, and that war had been declared against France.

Great Demonstrations Held.

When this news swept over the city thousands of persons began to parade. Bands were at the heads of the processions and thousands of voices—men, women and children—sent heavenward the notes of Germany's famous songs, "Die Wacht am Rheine." Never before was the song sung with more fervor and reverence.

Uhlans Are Repulsed.

A corps of Uhlans crossed the border into France, in what appeared to be an advance upon Nancy, and was met and repulsed in a sharp engagement at Petit Croix, a customs post on the Lorraine frontier.

While on the face of the reports the day appears to have been disastrous to the Germans, analysis of these and other movements, which as yet have no apparent effect, draws back the curtain to reveal the strategy behind the momentous advance movements of the three German armies, numbering nearly a million men, which are now in progress, with the capture of the entire eastern frontier of France as its object. In the three armies are included twenty-two army corps.

600,000 Threaten Paris.

The first is moving through Belgium. This is the strongest, as its direction is Parisward, where the greatest resistance may be expected. It numbers about 600,000 men. The Rhine scouts who were driven back at aerial scouts who were driven back at the Rhine belonged to the advance body of the first army, and they were reconnoitering.

The second army's advance move was the body that was repulsed at Petit Croix. The Uhlans suffered temporary defeat, it is reported, but only outwardly. Its function as the advance guard of the weaker body of the army was to fall back when struck. This army is advancing on the French border from Metz, with Nancy as its objective.

Third Army in South.

The third army is pushing forward in the vicinity of Mulhausen near the Swiss border, with Belfort, the city that withstood the German siege of three months during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, as its goal. Its advance formation is in lesser numbers and is divided into small scouting parties. Upward of 250,000 men are reported to be included in this army.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 3.—A battle was fought yesterday between the German and Russian fleets off the island of Åland and resulted in the Russian vessels being driven back. The Russian war vessels took refuge in the Gulf of Finland, where they still remain.

Kaiser Breaks with France.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—Placing the responsibility for the break directly at France's door, Germany on Tuesday formally declared war on her neighboring republic. The foreign office, in a statement that accompanied the formal declaration, recites specific violations of the German frontier by the French; naming instances where French aviators had dropped bombs on unprotected German towns.

Reichstag Passes Budget Providing $1,250,000,000 Fund for War.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—This has been the greatest war day that the German empire has ever known. Twice on Tuesday Imperial Chancellor Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg issued formal declarations of war, and once came news that the nation had declared war on Germany.

Early in the day there came from the imperial palace a notification that Emperor William had been given the support of the reichstag by the passage of a $1,250,000,000 war fund, and that war had been declared against France.

Great Demonstrations Held.

When this news swept over the city thousands of persons began to parade. Bands were at the heads of the processions and thousands of voices—men, women and children—sent heavenward the notes of Germany's famous songs, "Die Wacht am Rheine." Never before was the song sung with more fervor and reverence.

Uhlans Are Repulsed.

A corps of Uhlans crossed the border into France, in what appeared to be an advance upon Nancy, and was met and repulsed in a sharp engagement at Petit Croix, a customs post on the Lorraine frontier.

While on the face of the reports the day appears to have been disastrous to the Germans, analysis of these and other movements, which as yet have no apparent effect, draws back the curtain to reveal the strategy behind the momentous advance movements of the three German armies, numbering nearly a million men, which are now in progress, with the capture of the entire eastern frontier of France as its object. In the three armies are included twenty-two army corps.

600,000 Threaten Paris.

The first is moving through Belgium. This is the strongest, as its direction is Parisward, where the greatest resistance may be expected. It numbers about 600,000 men. The Rhine scouts who were driven back at aerial scouts who were driven back at the Rhine belonged to the advance body of the first army, and they were reconnoitering.

The second army's advance move was the body that was repulsed at Petit Croix. The Uhlans suffered temporary defeat, it is reported, but only outwardly. Its function as the advance guard of the weaker body of the army was to fall back when struck. This army is advancing on the French border from Metz, with Nancy as its objective.

Third Army in South.

The third army is pushing forward in the vicinity of Mulhausen near the Swiss border, with Belfort, the city that withstood the German siege of three months during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, as its goal. Its advance formation is in lesser numbers and is divided into small scouting parties. Upward of 250,000 men are reported to be included in this army.

BRITAIN JOINS IN WAR ON GERMANY

KAISER TO FIGHT THREE GREAT POWERS

All Europe Aflame as King George V. Casts Lot With Russia and France.

BELGIUM IS ALSO HOSTILE; ITALY AND JAPAN CANNOT LONG MAINTAIN NEUTRALITY

London, Aug. 5.—King George V. of Great Britain, urged on by the cries of thousands who surrounded Buckingham palace, Tuesday night signed a formal declaration of war against Germany.

By this act England joined her allies in the triple entente, France and Russia, and all Europe is aflame with war.

The momentous decision of the British government came before the time limit set by Great Britain in her ultimatum to Germany demanding a satisfactory reply on the subject of Belgian neutrality. Germany's reply was the summary rejection of the request that Belgian neutrality should be respected.

Ambassador Gets Passports.
The British ambassador at Berlin Thursday received his passports and the British government notified Germany that a state of war existed between the two countries.

With the declaration of war by Great Britain against Germany, the stage was set for the greatest clash of arms in the history of the world.

Not since Napoleon marched triumphantly through Europe, with visions of supreme control, has the continent been sleeping on its arms as it is Tuesday night. And strange as it may seem, the country which finally checked his career at the battle of Waterloo, is now reaching a hand across the channel to grasp that of its former foe, and the two are arrayed with Russia against Germany, a natural enemy of France.

All Europe involved.
All Europe now is involved in this gigantic war, which must result in the destruction of carefully planned and built navies and the devastation of armies nurtured and drilled for generations.

On the one hand is Austria-Hungary and Germany as the principal combatants, members of the triple alliance. Italy is mobilizing her troops and diplomats declare she can not much longer remain neutral, but must cast her fortunes with Germany and Austria-Hungary as the third member of the triple alliance.

Another probable ally for these countries is Turkey, which will be drawn into the conflict to protect Constantinople from the advance of the Russians.

Face Large Foe.
Opposing these four countries is England, France and Russia, comprising the triple entente. Their allies may be many, and the war strength of Germany and her allies may be called upon to face an almost uncountable foe.

Service will fight with the triple entente, naturally. The assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, successor to the Austrian throne, in the Serbian capital, was the remote cause of this European war, and it was the refusal of Serbia to accede to demands of Austria that added fuel to the flame.

Joins Triple Entente.
Belgium has mobilized her army and a virtual state of war exists between that country and Germany. That places Belgium on the side of the triple entente.

quiries from Russia and Germany regarding her attitude, but is preparing to defend her neutrality.

Japan May Assist England.

Japan is making ready to live up to her alliance with Great Britain in the event of an attack by Germany upon the British possessions in the far east.

The vital importance of Belgium in this war lies in the fact that unless Germany may move across Belgian territory, neutralized by treaty, an invasion of France would have to be through the heavily fortified French frontier proper.

The entire northeastern frontier of France is, roughly, 440 miles in length. For a distance of about 250 miles this frontier line separates France from Belgium and Luxemburg. The remainder, about 190 miles, separates France from German territory.

KAISER MAKES AN EARLY BREAK WITH COUNTRY OF CZAR

London, Aug. 2.—Events in the European crisis developed on Saturday with startling rapidity. The German ultimatum to Russia demanding that Russia cease the mobilization of her army, expired at noon and at 5:15 o'clock in the afternoon, the German emperor signed a mobilization order.

At 7:30 o'clock the German ambassador at St. Petersburg, Count von Pourtales, delivered a declaration of war in the name of his government to the Russian government and the entire staff of the embassy immediately left St. Petersburg.

Declaration Comes Early.
Although after the warlike speeches delivered by the German ambassador and the imperial chancellor at Berlin on Friday, no other result could be expected, hopes that the dread event might be averted had been raised by the intervention of King George in St. Petersburg and the fact that the German reichstag was not convened until Tuesday. Hence the actual declaration of war had not been expected for another day or two.

German Emperor Blames Czar.
The German emperor and his advisers have maintained to the last that they made supreme efforts for the sake of peace and that the last of the series of earnest appeals from Emperor William to Emperor Nicholas was a telegram repudiating responsibility for the calamity.

He took the ground that while Germany was engaged in mediating with Austria-Hungary at Russia's request, Russia, by her general mobilization, was threatening Germany's safety.

While the Kaiser originally intended to postpone his declaration of war until Tuesday when the reichstag would meet in the imperial palace of Berlin, it is believed that the stand taken by France induced him to hasten his decision.

As in the war with France in 1870, Germany hopes to steal a march on her opponents by taking the offensive before her enemies have had time to mass their armies along the German frontier.

such activities are being carried beyond the limits prescribed by the neutrality laws. The neutrality laws not only forbid the departing of armed expeditions from the United States directed against a friendly nation, but enlistments are specifically prohibited. The individual foreigner is left free to make his way as an individual out of the country, but extension to him of aid in the shape of passage money and expenses and any attempt to direct his movements to certain rendezvous in a foreign country is believed by some officials here to be of questionable legality and akin to enlistment.

May Seize Gold Exports.
New York, Aug. 2.—If there is a general European war within the next few days, $25,000,000 in gold, now on the high seas, will probably be much sought after. Nearly all the ships fly foreign flags, and if the nation to which they are attached as auxiliary or reserve boats is involved in the war, the gold ships are fair prey. The St. Louis, which carried $11,000,000 in gold from New York today, would not be subject to seizure. She flies the American flag.

REICHSTAG PASSES BUDGET PROVIDING $1,250,000,000 FUND FOR WAR.

Never before was the song sung with more fervor and reverence.

War with France has been declared, were the words which swept through every household in the city. Everywhere the people rushed out to the streets. Almost instantly the crowds surged toward the royal palace to cheer the Kaiser.

"On to Paris!" Resounded. The fervor of patriotism for the fatherland was still at white heat when it became known that a proclamation had been issued against Belgium. This brought forth a new wave of patriotism.

All day long the excitement of war ran high and every one of the streets was filled with people.

Late in the day came news that the German army had succeeded in entering France at three different points.

"On to Paris!" was the cry. Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—President Wilson signed the United States proclamation of neutrality in the European war Tuesday afternoon.

The proclamation of seven typewritten sheets was taken to the cabinet room, where the president affixed his signature, followed immediately by Secretary Bryan's signature.

The proclamation declares neutrality with respect to Austria, Serbia, Germany, Russia and France, where it states a "state of war unhappily exists."

The proclamation then prohibited use of American waters by armed belligerents, except in emergencies, or securing munitions, coal or supplies for such foreign vessels.

All citizens were warned to maintain strict neutrality and give no military aid, but expression in public or private of personal views is not interdicted. Transportation of officers or soldiers or contraband of war by Americans is also prohibited.

The proclamation is effective Aug. 5.

GERMANS TAKE RUSSIAN TOWNS.
Berlin, Aug. 4.—The Berlin war department has sent out bulletins announcing a successful invasion of Russian Poland. The towns of Kalisz, Bendzig and Czenstochow were occupied by German troops, and in the absence of reports of fighting it is not believed that these places were guarded by Russian forces. They are all open towns and easily accessible.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The president last night issued an executive order directing the navy to take over all the wireless stations on American soil. The order of the president says:

"All radio stations within the jurisdiction of the United States are hereby prohibited from transmitting or receiving for delivery messages of an unusual nature, and from in any way rendering to any one of the belligerents any unusual services during the continuance of hostilities."

The navy is directed to enforce the order.

BELGIAN TROOPS DEFEAT GERMANS

Thousands of Kaiser's Soldiers Killed in First Important Battle of the European War.

Brussels, Aug. 6.—German troops were defeated and several thousand German soldiers killed in the first important engagement of the European war fought yesterday at Liege, Belgium, where the Belgians completely routed the vanguard of the German army of the Meuse and repulsed the invaders, inflicting terrible losses. Two entire German cavalry regiments were decimated by the fire of the Belgian forts.

Prior to the attack on Liege, Gen. von Emmich, commanding the German army of the Meuse, issued a proclamation calling for an open road through Belgium for the advance of his forces and suggesting that prudence would show it to be the duty of the Belgian people to accede to this in order to avoid the horrors of war.

Noncombatants Shot.
The Germans committed reprisals against the civil population of the town of Vise, eight miles northeast of Liege, burning the city and shooting many of the residents.

Official dispatches report that the Belgians have repulsed all attacks by the Germans in the neighborhood of Liege. The Belgians delivered a vigorous counter attack, killing all the Germans who had passed the fort. The fortifications afforded admirable resistance to German shells. Evenings for, which was in action all day, was unharmed.

The Belgian aviators proved every whit as good as the Germans. It is confirmed that civilians have been shot at Vise and the town has been burned.

Army Withdraws.
The Germans charged, but could not carry the Belgian position and finally the entire army was withdrawn toward the Meuse. The Belgian troops engaged had been hurried forward from Liege to reinforce the border patrol.

The Germans advanced along the railway in an armored train. The Belgians had posted artillery in position to command the railroad and in addition had mined the track at a point where the road crossed a culvert.

Blow Up Train.
When the train was squarely on the bridge the mine was exploded completely destroying the locomotive and the two forward cars filled with Germans. At the same time the remainder of the German force which had been conveying the train. The carnage was fearful. The Germans, although caught by surprise, put up a strong resistance, but they had no supporting artillery and finally retreated toward the frontier. In the meantime a Belgian column had been rushed toward the rear of the German position and the two regiments composing the assaulting column were caught in a trap.

Join Belgian Army.
It is announced here that the French army has effected a junction with the Belgian army at Tournai, a point thirty-five miles west of Liege. From now on it is expected that the Belgian and French armies will operate together. England also is now expected to send an army to Belgium's aid and the attempted invasion of the German forces will be met by a very strong allied army.

Arrest German Spies.
London, Aug. 6.—It was officially announced at army headquarters last night that twenty-one German spies have been arrested in England during the last 24 hours. Reports circulated say that among the number are some well known German officers.

Paris, Aug. 6.—By order of the government all Germans in France who have not received special permission to remain are being arrested as spies. Fifty-seven arrests have been made in this city, including eleven women.

Aviator Killed.
Brussels, Aug. 6.—A German aviator flew across the Belgian defenses outside of Liege yesterday. He was greeted with a storm of bullets from the forces and literally shot to pieces, falling to the ground in the middle of the Belgian force. As a result of this other German aviators who had been seen in the distance flew back to the German lines.

Pursue German Ship.
Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 6.—The German steamer Frieda Leonhart arrived here yesterday and reported having been pursued twelve hours by a British warship. It was enroute from Italy to Pensacola. The officers and crew declared they sighted, the warship Tuesday night at Jupiter Inlet. It remained within the three mile limit in their flight up the coast.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS SAID TO BE MAIN THING RELIED ON

Assertion Made That Nation Will Surprise the World in This Direction.

CAPITALS AT HER MERCY?

Dirigibles, Which Form the Fighting Air Fleet of the Kaiser, Said to Be the Deadliest Weapon of War That Has Been Devised.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)
This article is written by a man in the secret service of a great world power. Under the guise of a professional aviator he has flown over every capital in Europe, making photographs with a secret camera attached to his machine for the war ministry archives of his government. As a designer and operator of aeroplanes he is known the world over. His article, therefore, deals particularly with the air equipment of the various European nations for war.

Whatever the final outcome of the war, this is certain: Germany is going to surprise the world by her mastery of the air.

For Germany and not France ranks first in air aviation. The ponderous dirigible, not the fleet aeroplane, is the most destructive machine that soars.

Ready to Attack London.
Germany stands ready to assail Paris, Warsaw, and even London by an attack from the air, and the odds are against the defenders.

While Frenchmen have been capturing the prizes in aerial contests, Germany has been far from idle. After experiments with every kind of engine that soars the air she has abandoned the newer, heavier than air creations for the dirigible of ancient origin. This she has made the deadliest machine that flies.

I have worked as an itinerant mechanic on the military air craft of every nation of Europe.

Germany and France represent two distinct and different types in air fighting. France stakes her all on the aeroplane. The Gnome motor is her foundation. Germans cannot duplicate it. The Russian air corps are a mere shadow of the French system. Austria patterns her weak air corps after Germany. England's system is a composite between the two without the perfection of either.

The dirigible is a fighting machine—a dreadnought of the air. And the aeroplane is a scout cruiser, and little else.

Why Dirigible Surpasses.
Here, in brief, is why the dirigible surpasses the aeroplane as a fighting machine:

It carries a crew of from 10 to 25 men to take observations and direct operations.

Can carry as much as 25 tons of nitro-glycerine cartridges—sufficient to demolish Chicago.

Can hover over a city during night time in silence, and while slower, can outmaneuver an aeroplane, inasmuch as it can hold a stationary position, while an aeroplane must keep moving.

Carries rapid-fire guns which can be aimed with deadly accuracy.

An aeroplane carries four men at best. It cannot carry effective pieces of ordnance and cannot drop bombs with any accuracy.

It can be heard and located by sound a mile distant, while a dirigible painted sky color with motors and lights shut off can neither be heard nor seen at night at a distance of 700 feet.

Plans for Attack Made.
In the war archives of Germany are complete plans for aerial attacks on both Paris and London. Details for such attacks have been figured out with Metz as the base. For an attack on London they calculate upon leaving Metz as darkness falls, crossing the channel at a height of 5,000 feet. Under ordinary circumstances London would be gained before midnight. Then the bag would be dropped to 3,000 feet and the work of destruction begun. Its nitroglycerine cartridges could render London helpless in a few hours. Furthermore, the English capital is inadequately protected with searchlights with which to detect a night attack.

Any of the nine non-rigid dirigibles in the British services would be unable to cope with one rigid Zeppelin.

Attacks on Paris have been outlined from the same base—Metz. Paris is better protected by sky searchlights than London.

France has 33 dirigibles, but all of the non-rigid type, which cannot be compared with the giant Zeppelins, of which Germany has 16, with as many more dependable dirigibles of other types.

On the Russian frontier Germany will find but trifling resistance to her air fleets.

Germany virtually is impregnable to an air invasion. At Metz, Leipzig, Cologne, Baden Baden, Hanover, Frankfurt and Johannesburg she has the most powerful searchlights in the world.

WILD RUSH TO GET HOME
Americans in London Willing to Accept Any Kind of Accommodation Offered Them.

London.—There were more Americans in the west end of London during the days following the declaration of war than Englishmen. They were chiefly crowded about the offices of the American Express company and of the steamship lines trying to get checks cashed and secure passage home.

The express companies were able to afford much relief to these in financial straits and the steamship companies booked hundreds of passages, although no guarantee could be given that British steamers would sail until their safety was assured by the navy.

The greatest demand, therefore, was for berths on American liners. Persons who usually travel in the most luxurious cabins were eagerly buying berths in the steerage which had been secured by earlier visitors to the steamship offices who were offering them for sale, but at greatly increased prices. The main office of the International Mercantile Marine was jammed with Americans, and a like condition prevailed at the offices of the Cunard and Canadian lines, which were still doing business.

Rush to Express Offices.
The express companies' offices, which opened at an early hour, were crowded. They were well supplied with currency and honored their checks up to $50. The American Express company supplied the temporary wants of over 3,000 persons from the time the office opened until 2 o'clock this afternoon. There were still hundreds in line desiring gold in exchange for their checks. They were told to return next morning.

The Wells Fargo Express company, which issues checks chiefly to westerners, was open all day. The cashiers were kept busy honoring checks.

MEN WORSHIP CAT ON BOARD A SHIP

Sacred Animal Arrives at New York, and Was Idol on the Vessel's Voyage.

NAME IS HIMULKEE

One of the Only Five Ever Captured Is Brought From the Orient—Can Make Himself Invisible, and the East Indians Say.

New York.—Well, here's the himulkee, a rare specimen of the cat family, found in the jungles of Bengal and worshipped by the Bengalese and which, they believe, has the power of becoming invisible when confronted with danger. The himulkee arrived here the other day on board the Kasamba, a British steamship, which touched at many of the eastern ports on her voyage from Kobe to New York.

The himulkee was consigned to the headquarters of a circus in Indiana. She is the first live specimen of her kind ever brought into this country. The first one to arrive here, several years ago—a mounted specimen which is now in a Chicago museum—caused widespread interest among naturalists.

It is a matter of record, the officers of the Kasamba say, that only five himulkees have ever been captured. Natives who have been in the jungles of Bengal all their lives tremble in terror at the mention of the animal.

Knowing the superstition of the native East Indian in regard to the himulkee, precautions were taken when the animal was taken on board the Kasamba to keep its identity from becoming known to the crew, all of whom had been shipped in various parts of the Orient.

When the shores of Ceylon were well to the stern, and the bow of the Kasamba was headed for Aden, Captain McMillan was surprised one day to find all the dind down on their knees, kowtowing and mingling their prayers in a curious mixture of jargon in front of the himulkee's cage.

CONTINUATION SCHOOLS

THERE WILL BE FOUR SEPARATE DEPARTMENTS

Arrangements are now being made to open the new Continuation Schools early in September. Mr. E. L. Hayward, formerly principal of the business college, will be in charge, and competent instructors have been secured to teach in the different departments.

There will be four separate departments, as follows: Industrial, Commercial, Continuation and Evening. Any person over fourteen years of age may attend one or more of these departments either all day or part time, and select just such subjects as he may wish to take up. The state law provides that certain subjects must be taught to certain classes of students, but a wide range is left to individual pupils to select the kind of work they wish to take.

The industrial department will offer instruction in various lines, including wood working, mechanical drawing, forge and shop work, sewing, crocheting, millinery, etc.

The commercial department offers all commercial subjects, including shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, commercial law, business arithmetic, etc., the same as a business college.

The Continuation School department is for permit pupils between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years, and instruction will be given in English, citizenship, sanitation, hygiene, use of safety devices, and such other subjects as may be needed.

The Evening School department will offer courses in any branch or subject, provided there are ten or more persons who desire to take such work. Classes may be formed in sewing, dressmaking, millinery, basketry, pottery, cooking, shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, arithmetic, English, penmanship, mechanical drawing, art, study of textiles, etc.

Rooms are being arranged in both the Lincoln and Witter buildings and will be equipped with suitable appliances and conveniences.

Further particulars may be obtained from Prin. E. L. Hayward, or Supt. C. W. Schwede.

T. H. Thornton of this city acted as chairman of the meeting, and the county committee chosen were A. D. Hill, W. J. Robinson and F. E. Kellner. The names will have to be written in on the ballot, owing to the nominations having been made too late for the filing of papers in the regular order of business.

Family Sayings.

"I don't like your weigh," remarked the customer to the dishonest grocer.

"I hope I make myself clear," said the water as it passed through the filter.

"Reading makes the full man, but writing doesn't," complained the half starved poet.

"My resources are all tied up," said the tramp as he placed his bundle on a stick.

"The rest is silence," quoted the musician, explaining the meaning of that term to his pupil.

"This is a complete give away," remarked Papa Santa Claus as he finished strapping the Christmas tree.

"I call that treating a friend in a rather distant manner," said the doctor as he hung up the receiver after prescribing over the telephone—Boston Transcript.

Cheap by the Hour.

"I must say you've got a pretty lot of citizens to allow themselves to be charged at the rate of 5 cents a mile from here down to the Junction on a miserable one horse branch road," said the shoe drummer blithely.

"To like to call yer attention ter one fact before you go on usin' any more such language," answered the ticket agent calmly, "and that is that, while it may be 5 cents a mile, it's only 35 cents an hour"—Metropolitan Magazine.

Impartial.

"What did the captain of the vessel do when he found the men were not disposed to find their full duty?"

"He gave up the voyage and docked the vessel."

"What then?"

"Then he docked the vessel"—Baltimore American.

Between Friends.

Bess—He said my face was a perfect poem. Jess—It is like one of Brown's. Bess—What do you mean? Jess—Some of the lines are so deep—Toledo Blade.

How blessings brighten as they take their flight—Young.

The Profitable Cow.

It is impossible to get away from the fact that the dairy cow is the most economical producer of human food of all our live stock. This is the reason the dairy cow finds her permanent habitat and exists in her highest degree of perfection on high priced land.

The dairy cow—just as sure as the world moves—forces herself to produce one of the man who owns an expensive land and who is compelled to get out of it a living and something besides.

A Dairy Pointer.

The great trouble in the average dairy is that animals are underfed, especially during the summer, when excessive reliance is placed in grass pasture as a balanced ration.

2. Excellent domestic science and manual training facilities together with various shops for industrial training.

3. Great attention is paid to speech and lip reading.

4. Careful supervision of habits and morals. Nowhere is there collected a cleaner minded lot of students than are at this school.

5. Medical attendance is constantly at hand for those who need it.

6. Board, washing, light, heat and medical service are all furnished free to deaf boys and girls in Wisconsin.

For further particulars apply to E. W. Walker, Supt. Wisconsin School for the Deaf, Delevan, Wis.

Did Not Find Company Negligent.

The coroner's jury that was impaneled to investigate the death of the man who was killed at Rudolph, and whose name was given at that time as William Wallace, found "that the man came to his death on July 23d, 1914, by being struck by a train on the C. M. & St. P. road. We recommend that hereafter the company use more care and diligence in looking after the injured on their right of way."

The investigation elicited the fact that the man had his foot caught in a frog on the track where the switch track leaves the main line and that he was unable to escape when the passenger came along, the result being that he was struck by the train and killed.

The railroad men gave as their reason for not moving the man as being because they saw that he was badly hurt, and that less damage would be done him if he were left to lie where he was and have the doctor go to him. It also appears that the accident was only a short distance from the station and that nothing would have been gained had the man been picked up, as the doctor was with him within a few minutes.

Cats Killed for Pelt?

Thirty cats, kept by the Paris custom house authorities to destroy the rats, which do great damage to the goods, disappeared mysteriously a few nights ago. It is thought they were killed for their pelts on account of the great rise in the market price of skins which are used in the manufacture of fashionable furs.

Almost the Limit.

A minister in the middle west has described a bachelor as "a parasitical droid, a solitary satellite around his own ego, and a sluggish human of exuberant egotism."

Proper Pride.

Pride is one of the seven deadly sins; but it cannot be the pride of a mother in her children, for that is a compound of two cardinal virtues—faith and hope.—Dickens.

Killed by Kick of Ostrich.

An ostrich attacked a shepherd of Stokelake, Orange River colony, a few days ago, and kicked him so severely that he died a few hours later.

Know the Monkey Language.
An African explorer just returned from the wilds of the Dark Continent is sure that the natives know the monkey language.

Ingratitude.
Ingratitude is always a form of weakness. I have never known a man of real ability to be ungrateful.—Goethe.
